No More Primary?
Facing Destruction
Wet, Dry, Part Wet
Both Jumped

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

PRESIDENT DAWES thinks the direct primary should be abolished.

In its place would come the old convention and candidates selected by political bosses.

On the whole, the direct primary is a better plan. Sometimes you cannot fool the voters. You can always buy the bosses, and they are cheaper than the direct primary buying. What does the public gain by enabling a rich man to buy a seat in the senate more cheaply?

ANDREW FURUSETH, head of the Seaman's Union, a fine old sailor, says unions "face destruction" at the hands of the courts, and suggests, "It may be necessary for us to tell courts that unless we refuse to answer your questions, we refuse to recognize you, etc."

• • •

MR. FURUSETH is earnest and honest, and labor unions compelling employers to pay decent wages have, in past times, been powerful in increasing general prosperity.

• • •

BUT those unions really will "face destruction" on the day they legislate to overrule the courts. That must be done only through the ballot box not in the backroom of any labor union or corporation.

RHODE ISLAND, including Newport and its luxury, is Republican and wet.

New York is dry on the Democratic side, half wet and half dry on the Republican side.

THE rest of the country is partly wet partly dry, more dry than wet.

IN New York's Democratic club, including all good Tammany men, a 50-gallon still for manufacturing whisky is dicovered in the cellar, most appropriately.

Indignation is aroused by the size of the still, a 30-gallon still. The club has thousands of members. Thirty gallons is ridiculous.

YOU have not read this before. Mrs. Sarah Fanandes, aged 37, quarreled with her husband, Theodore, and to prove her point jumped down the dumb waiter shaft, shouting "Here I go."

He shouted after her, "I am on my way down, too," and jumped, landing very much like a man, on his wife's unconscious body. They are both in the hospital, may recover and live to be reconciled.

THE machine gun habit is spreading. At Elizabeth, N. J., yesterday, with a crowd much impressed looking on, seven bandits with sawed-off shotguns and pistols and a machine gun mounted on their motor, stopped a United States mail truck, wounded a helper, shot down a motorcycle policeman and escaped with the wanted mail.

Our crime is becoming highly organized.

IRVING FISHER, Yale professor, bets $10 to $1 that this will be a nation of octogenerians by the end of the century.

That prediction is no exaggeration. Men, one day, will live habitually to be 140 years. But with a life average of 80 years only it will be necessary to devise various things, including the age at which men marry.

Population would soon become unwieldy if a race of octogenarians married at 20 or 25 years of age and went on having children for half a century. Nature, however, would find a way to take care of that. She always does.

WHEN Cornelius Vanderbilt built his big house at Fifty-first-st and Fifth-av, New York, it seemed extravagance. When he tore down the front along Fifth-av and rebuilt it, he erected a huge wooden fence to hide what seemed a still worse extravagance.

He may have spend $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 on these "extravagances." His widow sold the house yesterday for $7,500,000. It is hard to be extravagant if you buy real estate in a good section in a good American city, anywhere between San Diego, Cal., and Portland, Me., or between Seattle and Miami. The buyers of the house, Horowitz and Carpenter, will make more than the Vanderbilts if they hold on.

DR. MILLIKEN says science and possible human imagination can form no conception of the universe. That is easy to believe. A tadpole in his pond in Missouri might, if carefully taught, form some conception of Lake Michigan but he couldn't possibly imagine the Atlantic Ocean, much less the ocean of space outside the earth.

WHEN Professor Michelson of Chicago University, a great scientist was asked, "Do you think I might by careful study get some idea of modern mathematics?" he replied with characteristic modesty, "You might, but I don't understand it."

2,500 PERSONS NOT REGISTERED AS BOOTHS OPEN

Situation Revealed by Comparing Complete Poll with Registration Figures

15,790 ELIGIBLE TO VOTE

Large Number Expected To Qualify at Polls Today and Saturday

That approximately 2,500 voters were not registered in the city of Marion when the various precinct booths were opened this morning for the final two days of registration prior to election was indicated by a comparison of a complete poll taken by the Republican organization under the direction of B. J. Shelton, chairman of the County Central Committee, and registration figures obtained at the board of election office.

The Republican poll, completed by Mr. Shelton's organization of precinct committeemen Thursday, shows that there are approximately 15,790 persons in the city eligible to vote. The Election Board record discloses that the number registered when the last total was compiled in the spring was 13,238, showing that 2,552 had failed to qualify for casting their ballots in November. Because of changes that have taken place in the voting population since spring, resulting from former residents moving away and new ones coming in, and which can not be definitely estimated, it is believed that 2,500 is somewhere near the probable number of voters who are still outside the fold.

All Booths Open

Election booths in all of the city's 39 precincts were open from 8 until 2 o'clock today and will be open between 4 and 9 o'clock tonight and also during the same hours, Saturday, for the purpose of giving these 2,500 a final opportunity to qualify for voting on November 2. Both Republican and Democratic organization workers are on duty in all parts of the city calling on those not listed on the registration books and urging them to visit the precinct voting places either today or Saturday. All who are registered but have moved from one precinct to another must also go to the polls and report the transfers.

It is believed that as a result of this concerted effort on the part of the two party organizations, and publicity that has been given to campaigns urging all voters to qualify for casting their ballots, registration will be exceptionally heavy during these two days.

Two registration officials one representing the Democratic party and the other the Republican, are on duty in

THOSE WHO MUST REGISTER TO VOTE

To prevent confusion as to rules governing the qualification of voters at the coming election here is a list of those who must register:

Persons who have become residents of Marion recently and who have not registered here.

Persons who have just reached the voting age.

Persons who have moved from one precinct to another since registering the last time.

GIRL KILLED, SISTER HURT WHEN TRACTION HITS CAR

Southbound C., D. & M. Interurban Strikes Auto Mile North of Worthington

Louise Whetsel, 6, is dead, and her sister, Gladys Whetsel, 16, is in Grant Hospital, Columbus, today, suffering with a broken right arm and other injuries, as the result of an accident late yesterday in front of their home, a mile north of Worthington, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a southbound C, D. & M interurban car.

Gladys Whetsel had just started the car and was proceeding to the highway in front of their home. To get to the highway it was necessary to cross the C., D. & M. tracks, and there was nothing to obstruct the view in both directions, witnesses say.

The automobile was dragged almost 50 feet by the force of the collison.

The condition of Gladys was reported not serious today.

FLORIDA MAGNATE BLAMED FOR HIS OWN DROWNING

London, Oct. 15—The death of D. P. Davis, spectacular Florida real estate magnate, who was lost off the S. S. Majestic on Wednesday, was due to "accidental drowning" and he was "the victim of his own fool-hardiness," according to a statement wirelessed to the International News Service today by L. B. Delaney, personal attorney for Davis who was with him aboard the Majestic.

FEDERATION TO CLOSE ITS CONVENTION TODAY

Los Angeles Selected as Site for Next Year's Sessions

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor was in session here this afternoon writing the final chapter of the forty-sixth annual convention of the labor body.

The committee had before it the task of laying plans to put into execution the far reaching program for the advancement of the status of organized labor as developed from the 10 days of deliberation by the more than 400 delegates.

The convention referred a number of questions to the executive council on which it was not prepared to define a policy.

Today's session of the council was expected to take up only questions of immediate necessity to close up the convention work here and arrange the time and place, probably Washington, within a fortnight to take up the larger issues.

Formal notification was to be forwarded to Los Angeles of the selection of that city as the 1927 meeting place of the federation, that having been the concluding business preceding the final adjournment late yesterday. Los Angeles was selected overwhelmingly over Birmingham, Ala., and St. Petersburg, Fla.

QUEEN MARIE GUEST AT PARTY FOR MRS. WILSON

Roumanian's Royal Visitor Worried About Handling of Her Trunks

Aboard S. S. Leviathan, Oct. 15—Queen Marie and her suite were guests today at a birthday party for Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

In celebration of Mrs. Wilson's birthday anniversary, the ship's cook prepared a huge birthday cake and a party was arranged in the "Wilson room" a memorial room to the late President Wilson on the Leviathan.

The queen announced that she herself will be celebrating a birthday on Oct. 29, her fifty-first. Since her party starts its trip westward on Oct. 24, the birthday party probably will be held in Chicago.

Queen Marie is not at all dismayed by the fact that she is scheduled to spend 60 nights aboard American trains during her tour, but is perplexed over the handling of her trunks. Little by little, the contents of these trunks are being disclosed and it was learned today that two of them contain nothing but photographs to be given to queen's American friends.

200 ARMED MEN CLOSING IN ON EIGHT BANDITS

"Shoot at Sight and Shoot To Kill," Order Given to Large Posse

TROOPERS USE PLANES

Fugitives Who Yesterday Killed Man in $300,000 Robbery Believed in Mountains

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 15—Two hundred armed men, ready to shoot to kill, marched into the Watchung Mountains near here early today, closing in on the eight machine gun desperadoes who killed one man and wounded three others in a $300,000 mail truck robbery yesterday at Elizabeth, N. J.

Airplanes, equipped with tear bombs and hand grenades and manned by state troopers, were to fly over the mountains in an effort to locate the killers. The fugitives were believed to be hiding in the mountains, although Major Mark O. Kimberling, directing the man hunt, received word from Morristown shortly before midnight that the occupants of two automobiles which sped though that city had staged a running gun fight.

Police are posted on 13 roads around an area of about 180 square miles. The 200 armed men began to sweep this territory at dawn.

"Shoot at Sight"

All through the night, hundreds of police and deputized citizens in every part of New Jersey were feverishly alert, guarding every road and lane, but daybreak found the bandits still at large.

"Shoot on sight and shoot to kill," was Major Kimberling's order. He warned farmers to arm themselves and guard their houses. So thoroughly had the alarm been spread that it was not believed the bandits could obtain food without risking capture.

The state troops were stationed along the principal thoroughfares in posts of three men. The posts were linked together by telephone. Red lanterns were hung at road intersections, and every vehicle and pedestrian was stopped and questioned.

Police believe two notorious robbers may be involved—James J. "Killer" Connife and John "Bumpy" Rogers, who were sought for the murders of Frank Kearney, lumberman, and his son, Robert, near New Brunswick, Oct. 4. The Kearneys were slain when they refused to give two bandits a ride in their auto.

Major Kimberling said he would not

EVIDENCE HINTS CHILD TRAMPLED BY CATTLE

Sheriff and Cleveland Detectives May Abandon Murder Theory

Jefferson, Oct. 15—The wall of mystery, surrounding the circumstances leading to the death of Isabel Zandarski, 3, whose body was found in a tamarack swamp at Orwell, Monday, after having been missing since Sept. 22, was believed to have been pierced today.

Sheriff H. D. Hannum, and two Cleveland detectives who have been aiding him in attempting to solve the muck lands mystery, announced this morning that new evidence indicates that the child was trampled to death beneath the hoofs of a herd of cattle.

"While it might seem improbable that such a small child would leave her bed in the night and start afoot through the swamps, we now believe that new evidence shows she did do this," declared the sheriff. "A third autopsy has revealed all the ribs on the left side of her body were torn loose from the backbone. The round, deep hole at the base of her skull looks like that of a cow's horn."

Frank Knurick, 18, uncle of the child, who has been held in the Jefferson County jail since the body was found, was released from custody late last night. The sheriff declared that Knurick had steadfastly held to his original story of his movements the night Isabel disappeared. The detectives again questioned Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Zandarski and then announced:

"If the girl was killed, we will have to look outside the family for the fiend."

Firemen's Indemnity Fund Scheduled to be Changed to Pension Account in 1927

Present System Provides Protection to Firemen Only in Cases of Injury; Concensus of Opinion Money Should Be Used To Pay Pensions

Legislation changing the Firemen's Indemnity Fund, established in Marion four years ago, to a pension fund, is scheduled for adoption by City Council next year, local officials said today.

The Indemnity fund provides protection for members of the fire department only when they are injured in the performance of their duties and it is the concensus of opinion here that the money would serve a much more valuable purpose if used for the payment of pensions.

The Indemnity Fund was started in compliance with the provisions of a state law adopted about six years ago requiring an annual tax levy of not less than three-tenths of a mill and stipulating that the revenue derived from the levy should total at least $15,000 within a four-year period. Next year, it is stated, the balance in the fund here will reach the $15,000 mark and it will then be possible to enact legislation creating a pension fund and transferring the balance to its credit.

No difficulty is anticipated in having council act favorably on the change, as the same procedure has been followed in practically all Ohio cities.

Urgent Need Cited

The urgent need of a firemen's pension fund in Marion has been emphasized in the case of H. D. Cline, captain of the Mark Street Department, who was stricken with paralysis several weeks ago but who could not be provided with relief from the Indemnity fund. Captain Cline has been in the fire service here for 28 years and would be eligible to a pension should a fund be in existence here.

Under present conditions, however, special action of City Council was necessary in order to take care of his case. Council at its meeting last Monday evening adopted an ordinance granting Captain Cline a six months' leave of absence at half pay.

Cline will probably be the first member of the department to be placed on a permanent pension when the new system goes into effect next year, it is indicated. After the fund is established rules and regulations must be adopted and management placed in the hands of

CHILLICOTHE OFFICER MURDERED BY SUSPECTS

Motorists Suddenly Open Fire on Dan Garrett; Abandon Car, Separate

Chillicothe, Oct. 15 — Every peace officer available in this county today was seeking the slayers of Dan Garrett, 54, who was assassinated late last night by three holdup suspects.

The veteran officer accosted the trio who were riding in a car bearing Ohio license number 104201. Without warning, two of them opened fire, the policeman dying almost immediately with a bullet in his head and another in his heart. The three then abandoned the car and separated, disappearing in the darkness.

Garrett gained local fame two years ago when he successfully shot it out with a Cleveland bank robber. Tipped off that the bandit was headed this way, Garrett waylaid him. The robber shot Garrett through the shoulder with his first bullet. The officer continued to fire until the bandit had used his final bullet to commit suicide rather than face capture.

The license number has been identified as that issued to John Hickman, 30, and Montrose Hickman, 22, of Columbus, formerly of Pomeroy.

GIRL DEAD, MAN INJURED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Kenton, Oct. 15—Martha Jean Runner, 7, is dead, and Fred Wegner, 41, suffering from dangerous injuries here today as the result of the latter attempting to swerve his auto to avoid striking the girl. Wegner has been taken to a hospital in Lima.

Washington, Oct. 15—Excessive speed on a curve was responsible for the wreck of a Denver & Rio Grande passenger train near Waco, Colorado, Sept. 5, which resulted in the death of 20 persons and injuries to 54 others, the Interstate Commerce Commission stated today in a report of its investigation of the disaster.

American Legion Honors Pershing and Marshal Foch

Two Great Leaders Made Honorary Commanders of Ex-Servicemen's Organization at Philadelphia Session of Convention

BATTLE OVER CANDIDATES FOR COMMANDER

Col. J. Monroe Johnson and Howard P. Savage Said To Control Most Votes in Race for Office; Jay Williams "Dark Horse" of Campaign

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 15—The American Legion, by acclamation, today elected General John J. Pershing and Marshal Ferdinand Foch honorary commanders for life.

The man who commanded the A. E. F. will thus lead them back to Paris next year and there be greeted by the guiding genius of the allied armies.

Having honored their two great leaders, the Legion proceeded to the election of next year's national commander.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, of South Carolina, was the leading candidate with the southern and western caucuses behind him. His leading opponent was Howard P. Savage, of Chicago, who controlled the majority votes in nearly a dozen states. Savage's candidacy was strengthened at the last minute by the withdrawal in his favor of E. E. Spafford, of New York City.

COL. MONROE JOHNSON

Other candidates were Thomas Amory Lee, of Kansas; Jay Williams, of South Dakota; Frank J. Good, of Massachusetts, and Wilder S. Metcalfe, Kansas.

HOWARD P. SAVAGE

There was some slight talk of Col. Billy Mitchell, the noted aviator. The real dark horse, however, is Williams. The understanding among legion leaders is that should Johnson and Savage deadlock, the South Dakotan will be the compromise choice.

Meanwhile, the legion was still buzzing over yesterday's action in settling down indorsement of the World Court. Last year's convention at Omaha, went on record in favor of the court and that fact was played heavily by all protagonists in the recent elections. Those on the convention floor who participate in national politics, predicted freely that the legion's reverse action would bear heavily on future campaigning.

MAZER COUNSEL MAKES MOVE TO GET EVIDENCE

$50,000 Libel Suit Filed Against Canton Daily News In Mellett Case

Canton, Oct. 15—Another move on the part of attorneys for Louis Mazer to procure state's evidence in advance of the murder trial of their client was made today when Mazer filed suit for $50,000 against the Canton Daily News charging libel.

Amerman and Mills and Fetterman and Fetterman filed the suit on behalf of Mazer.

Mazer is now in the Stark County workhouse awaiting trial on an indictment for a first degree murder in connection with the killing of Don R. Mellett.

An attempt earlier in the week on the part of Mazer's attorneys to obtain the state testimony through depositions in another civil case failed when this suit, filed by Mrs. Florence E. Mellett against Mazer, Ben Rudner and Pat McDermott, murder defendants, was withdrawn.

Still another attempt to question important witnesses came this morning when Attorney E. L. Mills and David E. Kramer, who will represent Mazer, presented an application for an order to take the depositions of Steve Kascholk and Peggy Cavanaugh, important witnesses for the state. The witnesses are held in the workhouse in default of heavy bonds and state laws provide that depositions may be take where witnesses in a criminal case are in prison.

Under the law as soon as service has been had in a civil action, either of the parties may begin to call witnesses and take depositions.

"This is just another move in the fishing expedition which attorneys for the defendants in the murder case have started," said former Judge Hubert C. Pontius, attorney for the Canton Daily News.

Before service of summons in the libel suit had been served Amerman and Mills sought to serve notice upon Pontius for the taking of depositions on Oct. 19. Pontius refused to accept service. Likewise, when the deputy sheriff sought to make service on Charles E. Morris, publisher of the Canton Daily News, he also refused to accept the service.

Their reasons for declining to accept were not stated, but it was intimated that the validity of the filing and its purpose will be challenged.

HALF MILLION DOLLARS IN JEWELS ARE STOLEN

Gems Taken from Home of Belgian Financier and Multi-Millionaire

Biarritz, Oct. 15—Nearly half a million dollars worth of jewels were stolen last night from the villa of Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier and multi-millionaire.

Loewenstein, who is rated as one of the wealthiest men in Europe, has attracted attention lately by his offers of loans of many millions to Belgium and France for the restoration of their currency.

Housewives Urged To Bring Notebook And Pencil to Star's Cooking School

NOTEBOOK and pencil are most essential if every housewife in attendance at The Marion Star's Cooking School next week is going to get full benefit of the four days' course of instruction. By all means come prepared to jot down the little ideas and hints suggested by Mrs. George O. Turns, instructor, from the opening lecture, Tuesday afternoon to the closing session Friday afternoon. Every session will be held in The Marion Star Auditorium.

Come early and enjoy the half-hour musical program at 1:30 o'clock furnished through the courtesy of the Ackerman Piano Co. The lectures begin promptly at 2 o'clock each day.

Mrs. Thurn urges that the women ask questions and more questions. The ramifications of the kitchen, its direct relation to the diningroom and the harmony that should go with the getting up of the state dinner or the hurried pick-up cold supper or luncheon will be given due attention.

Bridge Parties

Among the interesting subjects to be discussed by Mrs. Thurn will be the getting up of bridge parties, afternoon teas and luncheons. The various delicacies that are the very soul of these various drawing room functions will be gone into daily by her, to say nothing of the invaluable hints on the linen, flower arrangement and other accessories.

Youngsters in the home too young to attend school need not be a handicap to the mother wishing to attend the school. Provision has been made by the Star for a nursery in one of the parlors on the same floor as the auditorium where Mrs. G. E. Waddell, instructor in kindergarten work, will entertain the children and give them every possible care.

ROAD BUILDING WORK MOVING ALONG RAPIDLY

Weather Conditions Favorable to Construction and Repair Programs

Favored with excellent weather during the last few days, contractors at work on roads in Marion County are again making rapid progress in construction and repair jobs.

With the advent of cooler weather, it is noted that one of Marion County's greatest road building and repairing campaigns is rapidly drawing to a successful close, despite the unfavorable conditions suffered during the summer months.

The road leading from Big Island to Morral has been completed, forming a hard-surfaced path from this city, through Big Island, to Morral, and giving residents of Green Camp a direct route to that village. The work was near completion more than three weeks ago but was held up by heavy rains. Malloy & Seckel had charge of the work.

Mt. Vernon-av Open

Mt. Vernon-av, closed during the last few weeks during the construction of a short stretch of water-bound macadam, will again be open to traffic about next Tuesday, County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens announced today.

The last section of the road is expected to be completed Saturday but traffic will not be permitted on the highway until a few days after its completion.

Malloy & Seckel, contractors for the job of improving E. Fairground-st from N. Greenwood-st to Madison-av and then south to E. Center-st, have men at work grading out the ruts cut into the mud street during the recent rains. Hauling of gravel and stone for construction work is expected to begin Monday, if favorable weather continues.

Maintenance Work

County Surveyor Leavens said today that maintenance gangs were busy in practically all section of the county, getting the roads in shape for the winter months. A maintenance gang is working out of Agosta on roads in that vicinity while a group of workers is also busy in the vicinity of Martel.

The surface treating program, begun some time ago by Louis Delamer of Tiffin and held up by unfavorable weather conditions, will be completed Saturday, it was announced.

L. L. Klymer, of Bluffton, contractor on the construction of the Marion-Marysville-rd, expects to pour the last foot of concrete by the middle of next week if present weather conditions continue. The concrete must stand for a period of 21 days before the highway will be open for traffic.

Marion County's section of the road was completed and opened more than a month ago, leading traffic to the Richwood-rd.

THEIR UNLUCKY NIGHT

Carterville, Ga., Oct. 15—Two men have been arrested twice in the same night in the same spot with two cars of whisky. While officers were waiting for another rum car, two men, Carter and Green, drove past, and a search of their auto netted several gallons of "shine." They were released on bond. When the officers were waiting at the same spot for their original victim, Carter and Green returned with a new car and more whisky. Again they were arrested and deprived of the car and whisky.

CHARGES DISMISSED

Akron, Oct. 15—Charges of manslaughter against Steve Tibenski, amateur pugilist, have been dismissed by Judge L. S. Pardee, of Common Pleas Court, in connection with the death of Ben Dronebarger, who died as a result of injuries caused when he fell in a fit. The judge held that Tibenski had acted in self-defense when Dronebarger attacked him.

DIARY NOTES THRILL CROWDED COURTROOM

Love Letters of "Frenchy" Balanescu and Dorothy Kirk To Be Read

Cleveland, Oct. 15—Love letters exchanged between Lionel "Frenchy" Balanescu, 21-year-old music student, and his inamorata, Dorothy Kirk, and excerpts from the girl's diary, promised two thrills to the hundreds of women who jammed Common Pleas courtroom here today to hear the continuation of Balanescu's trial.

The youth is charged with manslaughter, the state alleging that he caused the death of Dorothy Kirk by giving her poison pills as a "love philtre."

Testimony late yesterday of William H. Timmons, druggist, that he sold the youth medicine which was a powerful aphrodisiac a week before the girl's death was regarded as the strongest link forged by the state so far in its chain of evidence. The mother of the girl and several women friends testified that "Frenchy" posed as a physician and refused to call a doctor, after Dorothy became seriously ill, until she was near death.

City detectives testified Balanescu admitted to them shortly after his arrest that he had given the girl pills and induced her to take them.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Somebody wants to know why King Ferdinand isn't coming over. For the life of us, we do not know whether it's because he has to stay at home to hold down his job or because Marie copped out all the trunks.

So Babe Ruth wants $150,000 a year? At that rate it would bankrupt any club management to pay the full worth of Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Before returning to Spain, Princess Marie spoke very highly of American men and in a somewhat less enthusiastic degree paid tribute to American womanhood, which rather goes to show that even princesses have their womanly prejudices.

Up to the time these hog-calling championship contests came into vogue we couldn't imagine how we ever were going to utilize our college cheer leaders.

Receptions to the rescue crews of the Harding, the Roosevelt and that German vessels, the polar flyers, Gertrude Ederle, Mrs. Corson, the woman who swam around the island, the St. Louis Cardinals, Gene Tunney and the rest of the long list, and now Queen Marie is on the way. Really we do not know where our pity should go, whether to the camera men or to poor Mayor Walker, who hates publicity almost as much as himself.

The Martian Mystery.

Observations are now in progress at Greenwich observatory, England, by which it is hoped definitely to prove or disprove the theory that Mars is inhabited.

The Greenwich observers will concentrate their efforts for the next few months on the so-called canals of Mars. There long have been two theories concerning the so-called Martian canals. One is that of the scientists who hold that the geometric lines appearing on the surface of the planet could plausibly be canals built to obtain water from melting polar ice caps with which to irrigate the arid portion of the planet. The other school of scientists—the lesser school numerically—discard this theory, holding that the lines on Mars are merely optical illusions.

At present Mars is in a better position for scientific study than it has been since 1826. Although the planet is now 8,000,000 miles further away from us than it was two years ago, at which time it came closer than it will again in hundreds of years, it is visible thirty-two degrees higher in the sky, where the atmospheric handicap is thinner, and consequently our view is clearer.

As a matter of fact, there is far greater ground for hope of solution of the Martian canal mystery this year than ever before, for the reason that present conditions will permit of far more accurate calculations than have been possible at any time since the advent of modern scientific methods. It is for this reason the British astronomers as well as students of the sky the world over, are centering their attention on the bright red planet.

The Foe of Communism.

The fact that organized labor, both in this country and Great Britain, is daily growing more and more unfriendly to communism and that soviet Russia has become a stench to its nostrils must be manifest to all who have followed its course of late.

While the quarrel of over a year's standing between the United Mine Workers of America and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers over the alleged labor policies of the brotherhood in its West Virginia and Kentucky mines may have been a contributing factor, it will not explain in whole the scathing denunciation of Albert F. Coyle, editor of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Journal, uttered at the American Federation of Labor convention by President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers of America, in which the Mine Workers' president characterized Coyle as a "borer from within" and charged him with being a lieutenant of William Z. Foster, the Communist.

Coyle, it may be remembered, is organizing an unofficial labor commission to go to Russia next June, which project, it was asserted in a number of speeches before the convention, is to further an attempt to embarrass organized labor. His name came up before the Detroit gathering when an endeavor was made to pass a resolution favoring recognition of soviet Russia by the United States.

We have said that there was more behind the utterance of the miners' chief than the quarrel with the brotherhood, for the reason that the speech, in its opposition to soviet Russia and communism, was a replica of several others made before the convention. It reflected as well, the attitude of President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, who apparently looked upon friendliness toward soviet Russia and communism as evidences of disloyalty to the aims and purposes of the federation. As a matter of fact the entire course of the convention was marked by evidences of the uncompromising attitude of the American Federation of Labor as a whole against soviet Russia and communism wherever communism may exist.

And while the Detroit convention demonstrated the feeling of organized labor in this country, Communists and communism were being put under the steam roller at the national conference of the Labor party over in Margate. The process of purging the party of its revolutionary element, begun last year, was carried a good deal further this.

In his speech, Chairman Robert Williams, of the conference, condemned communism and denounced the extremists in the party, rebuking Secretary A. J. Cook, of the miners, for leading them into a hopeless situation and then threatening violence as a way of emerging therefrom.

The most significant phase of the big gathering, however, was the vote taken in support of Chairman Williams in his denunciation of the extremists, the vote showing 3,414,000 in support of his position and only 209,000 in opposition. Only slightly less convincing was a subsequent ballot by which the conference refused to reconsider the action taken last year in excluding Communist affiliated organizations, the vote being 2,706,000 against reconsideration and but 349,000 for the Communists.

In fact, the course of the conference throughout and the attitude of Chairman Williams were almost identical with the course of the Detroit gathering and the attitude of President Green in so far as communism was concerned. Both gatherings voted against it from first to last, hitting it whenever it showed its slimy head, and the two presiding officers were as alike in their handling of all endeavors to instill the extremist influence into the gatherings as two peas in a pod.

As we said by way of introduction, organized labor, as a body—the great, overwhelming body of organized labor—is for law and order and against all the tenets of the direct actionists who would make of the United States and Great Britain what Russia is today.

Still, there is no occasion for Mr. Browning to assume that his experience in marrying the whole family is absolutely unique.

Let us hope that Marie will not draw any false conclusion from the enthusiasm of the greeting she is due to receive when she reaches New York. It will be nothing more than the way we free-born, liberty-loving, democratic Americans pay our respects to royalty in person while scorning it as an institution.

"I'm a dry," remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way down town this morning, "and my inclination is to vote dry, but between a self-admitted wet and a dry who isn't dry, I'm for the wet every time."

Al. Smith isn't so much after all. Governor Hunt, down in Arizona, has been nominated for state executive six times, and there doesn't appear to be anything to indicate that he won't make it a life job.

We are not inclined to put up any barriers against the Europeans who may desire to come over to tell us how to run our country—if they have first demonstrated by actual performance that they know how to run their own.

Vagrant Verse.

"LISE."

If I were a cloud in heaven,
I would hang over thee!
If I were a star of even,
I'd rise and set for thee:
For love, life, light, were given
Thy ministers to be.

If I were a wind's low laughter,
I'd kiss thy hair;
Or a sunbeam coming after,
Lie on thy forehead fair;
For the world and its wide hereafter
Have naught with thee to compare.

If I were a fountain leaping,
Thy name should be
The burden of my sweet weeping;
If I were a bee,
My honeyed treasures keeping,
'Twere all for thee!

There's never a tided ocean
Without a shore;
Nor a leaf whose downward motion
No dews deplore;
And I dream that my devotion
May move thee to sigh once more.

—Rose Terry Cooke.

Tongue Is Mirror of Stomach.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

When you have a coated tongue what does it mean and what do you do about it?

A long time ago a wise man said, "The tongue is the mirror of the stomach." You can't look into the stomach, but you can get a very good idea of how the stomach is behaving by looking at the tongue.

A coated tongue indicates disordered digestion. Nine times out of ten, disordered digestion is due to improper eating, or the eating of improper food.

It is a shame the way the average man neglects or abuses his stomach. He makes a playhouse of it, dumping into its dark recesses all sorts of food and drink, regardless of the needs of the body or the possibilities of digestion.

It is rather a common experience in an insane asylum to have a patient who swallows everything he can get down his gullet. A friend of mine, a surgeon in an asylum opened a man's stomach to take out a collection of hardware. He found a pocket knife, several keys, metal buttons, several short pieces of wire and three feet of dog chain!

You excuse this on the ground that the man was crazy. What do you say about another man who eats three pounds of beefsteak; a chicken, a dozen pancakes, six doughnuts, ten slices of bread, a lobster, two dishes of ice-cream, cake, pie, six cups of coffee and a few glasses of other beverages? Many a man eats the equivalent of this schedule every day of the week and considers himself sane. I wonder if he is?

Appetite and stomach capacity are not uniform. Digestive powers vary. The stomach, intestines, liver and kidneys of some persons seem set to deal with great quantities of food. But such persons are rare, and even they would be better off if they reduced the intake.

The average man can not eat to excess without suffering for his errors. His efficiency is reduced and his life shortened by such a program. If he would look at his tongue occasionally and see written there the record of his indiscretion he would reform, if he is wise.

When you feel "down at the heel," with no "pep" or energy to do your regular work, have a headache and other pains, look in the glass and see how your tongue is. If it is thickly coated you must conclude at once that your eating habits are wrong, or that your digestive organs are on strike.

Constipation is too common a symptom in this country. It shows a wrong selection of foods, or neglect of the intestinal function. The contents of the bowels ferment and poison the system. No wonder the tongue is coated.

If you don't feel well, cut down on your food. Reduce the quantity of everything you are accustomed to eat. Better still, leave off all food for a day.

Increase the quantity of drinking water. Drink twice as much as usual.

Give yourself more rest, more sleep, more exercise, more recreation. Try to get rid of your worries, but, whatever else you do or do not do, reduce your intake of food.

By simplicity in diet and living, the coating on the tongue should grow less very shortly and disappear entirely within a few days. If it doesn't, talk it over with your doctor.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

When President Coolidge says the prosperity of the American people has not been turned to greed, avarice or selfishness, but has been productive of generosity, benevolence and charity, he is both right and wrong. There are in all of us both greed and generosity, selfishness and charity. Within us there are impulses of every sort. Our tasks of choice are many every day—many times a day—there is a choice to make. Character is made up of a multitude of right decisions woven together.

Chicago leadership holds men of wisdom. Chicago will some day be one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Not content with vast industrial achievement, with business leadership, with the triumphs of machinery, Chicago seeks beauty, and is building beauty into its institutions. The new stadium rises like a Greek temple. Museums, parks, boulevards are unparalleled in America. Now comes the idea of beautifying the harbor—making a port park. Don't worry about Chicago. We shall see wrought into that city, finally, as we shall see in every city some day, the ideals of men and women who see.

Give the shipping board credit for trying to find out what the people want. Do we want our merchant marine to be owned and operated by the government or by private capital? The board is going to have hearings in practically every section of the country to find out just what the people want. There is much talk about merchant marine—much of it by people who are uninformed. Note these questions which the board is asking. Good citizens will be better citizens if they will write to the United States Shipping board at Washington and answer the queries.

1. Do you favor an American merchant marine? (a) Through privately-owned capital and operation? or (b) Through construction, ownership and operation by the government?

2. What methods would you suggest for either plan?

The Bishop of London is right when he says religion calls for intelligent thought. To people who do not think about life and what it is all about, religion is either nothing or just an emotional experience. To those who think, religion may be somewhat of an emotional experience. Principally, it is merely the intelligent way through life.

Interesting Questions Asked and Their Answers.

Q. Does high visibility occur on land just before a storm? A. B. D.

A. The weather bureau says that it does, but the highest visibility occurs just after certain storms. The explanation of increased visibility just before a storm is as follows: One of the things that spoils visibility is the glare in the atmosphere, due to sunlight scattered by dust between the observer and the object in view. Now when the sky becomes clouded, as it does before a storm, the sunshine is cut off and with it the disturbing glare. Immediately after many storms the air is exceptionally free from light-scattering dust—washed out by the rain—and visibility correspondingly good.

Q. Does all honey crystallize? E. E. P.

A. Nearly all varieties of honey will crystallize, but the extent to which this takes place varies due to the variation in the relative amounts of dextrose and levulose in them. Some honeys, such as alfalfa and white clover, crystallize nearly completely, while others, such as sage and tupelo, remain liquid under practically all conditions of temperature, etc.

Q. What city is known as the "Venice of the East?" J. M.

A. Soochow, China, has been called this because of the many canals with which it is intersected. There are twelve canals which cross each other every quarter of a mile, and these in turn are connected with the outlying country by smaller canals. The "Grand" canal on which Soochow is built, is said to be the longest artificial waterway in the world. It is nearly a thousand miles in length and runs from Hangchow to Tien-Tsin. It is considered one of the greatest works of engineering on earth.

Q. In 1925 I failed to pay my income tax. Now I should like to pay off my debt. How shall I go about it? C. R.

A. You should communicate directly with the collector of internal revenue for your district. It will be necessary for you to make an affidavit stating the reason for your delinquency. There may be a penalty imposed by the collector, which will not exceed twenty-five per cent.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 15 — Thoughts while strolling: Brass sign on Fifty-Seventh street heralds "Eyelash Parlor." The coachman that follows his master on a bus. Manikins. And those spatted elegantes who sell gowns to ladies. A block—hooray!—that is not for up.

Fannie Hurst's husband reading a vaudeville bill poster. Tea rooms with esthetic names. And amber coloured windows. A new apartment building is to have a garage on its roof. And another bars babies and dogs—that will likely permit loose husbands under other names.

Ditch diggers wear bicycle pants guards. Lecture announcement: "Are writers human?" What's the idea in bringing that up? A high-powered car just missed an old pretzel woman. Probably got its quota for the day. A cabby feeding his nag a loaf of sugar.

Those elderly beaux with a flair for dancing ladies. A magic shop with a window demonstrator. Wonder if any one builds ships in glass bottles anymore? Joseph Urban and his Buddha look. Baby-faced Broadway girls with spit curls. And hearts of gall.

Whatever became of Kathryn McDonald of the movies? A spitting of snow. And the swarm of umbrella sellers from nowhere. The human driftwood snagged on every whirlpool corner. Content with the husks. While brawny steel workers scissor the sky in a net work of squares. And ride home in limousines.

Burns Mantle, the critic. I used to be his assistant. Assisting myself to his theater tickets. Lace jabots are coming back. Nathan Burkan, the theatrical lawyer. Hallelujah girls with tambourines. And the clickety-clack of a tap dancing class.

The innocent appearing blind pigs that set out a near beer bottle with a glass of real beer. Tin Pan alley moving eastword. The loafers who nap in "For Hire" automobiles. The mincing steps of Times square throngs.

It is a true story of how a beautiful girl with no stage experience got a job in the chorus and later a small speaking part. She had made the rounds of agencies and producers without getting farther than the outer gate. There was a photographer's studio near a certain producer's office. The impresario passed it several times a day. The girl had herself photographed in a dozen different poses and prevailed upon the photographer to feature the poses in his display cabinet outside. The producer was attracted, found out her name and sent for her.

One of her feet caught in the endgate, and she was dragged a block through the village. Strange to say, her injuries were very slight.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Everybody that I train with says there's altogether too many laws and I reckon they're right. They point out quite a number of laws that they say is all just so much baggage or worse. Well, some times they point out all these various laws, and other times they're able to mention just one, and somehow it generally turns out to be the same one.

But there is a clothing salesman from Philadelphia that was hit hard by a lot of laws all at once the other day, according to the worst story I've heard today. This person was in Chicago, and he woke up when they hauled him into the police court and the prosecutor fellow started to reading off the list of laws the Philadelphia party was accused of breaking.

"So, your honor," says the prosecutor, "he's charged with speeding, reckless driving, going without tail lights, leaving off his headlights, driving while intoxicated, transporting liquor and having liquor in his possession. That's seven laws he's busted, your honor."

"Are you guilty or not?" says the judge.

"What's to be the fine if I'm guilty?" his lawyer replies. "That's our regular custom."

"But listen," says the salesman, "you sure ain't going to make me pay retail prices in a wholesale deal, are you? What discounts do I get for quantity and cash?"

Well, you may think this fellow was good, but when you stop to think how many laws a fellow can break just going downtown to work, it ain't so unreasonable as it sounds.—Copyright, 1926.

Dr. B. L. George Speaks at Delaware District Meet

Dr. B. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. Church, this city, spoke on the subject, "World Service" at the Thursday afternoon session of the Delaware District Conference which was held at the Methodist Episcopal Church at De Graff, yesterday.

Rev. George emphasized the idea that there is as much need of missionary service today as formerly and urged the members of the Conference to "consecrate your services to the worship of God." He suggested the idea that "churches are better equipped in this era to carry out Christ's command and carry his gospel abroad than ever before, both financially and with the good material for missionaries found among young people."

"My experiences as a minister's wife" was the subject of an interesting talk given by Mrs. George, who accompanied Rev. George at the luncheon arranged for the ministers' wives.

Plans were made for the next regular meeting which will be held in the spring. W. M. George of Mt. Victory was re-elected secretary and treasurer. The meeting was in charge of District Supt. H. E. Armacost.

CHAPTER TWENTY

PIGGY reconnoitered until he discovered Scott's car standing before a garage in a side street. A few minutes later, armed with a couple of packs of cheap cigarettes, he swaggered into the garage, saying:

"Gimme some gas. Fill'er up. Oil, too.

"Hey, you! Git out o' here of you're goin' to smoke!"

"What's etain' you?" Piggy haughtily inquired, match in hand. Scott's chauffeur, a few feet away, grinned at the girl winked.

"Haint nothin' eatin' me, 'cept a little boss sense. You city fellers don't seem to know nothin' 'tall. Don't they never learn ye thet gas burns easy?"

"You don't say. Does it? Have one?" He offered the cigarettes to his brother chauffeur, who promptly accepted. "Well, I never burn gas except on the road." Piggy scratched a match.

The garage man advanced threateningly. "Here, you git aout with that!"

"Oh, all right, all right! Keep your hair on. Maybe it ain't very safe to have it around where you are. You might blow up."

This display of wit brought a guffaw from the other chauffeur, and together they strolled outside, Scott's employee already prepossessed in favor of the newcomer.

"Saw you on the road this morning, didn't I?" he asked.

"Ye-ah," Piggy replied, with a grimace caused by the infamous tobacco he was burning in a worthy cause; but the other, attributing it to the divine discontent of an urban chauffeur compelled to negotiate rough, unpaved roads, laughed. "You live around here?"

"Nope. New York. But the old man comes up once in awhile. He owns a summer place over near Jaffrey."

"Jaffrey—let's see. That's near where I met you this morning, ain't it?"

"Ye-ah. We've just come, and were looking around a little this morning. The lady I work for, Mrs. Smith, has rented a furnished house at Fitzwilliam."

"Fitzwilliam? Gawd, that's a hot one!"

"Ain't it? Say, what's a guy do for a good time up here? Any theaters or dances or anything?"

"Nix. Church sociables, an' once in a long while a fireman's ball or sump'n. Plenty o' girls, though—such as they are." The man spat derisively.

"Huh! Looks like I'm in for joy. We might stay all winter."

"All winter! What for?"

"Well it's this way. Old Smith died out West about a month ago. I've worked for him three years. An' she's looking for a quiet place where she can mourn all she feels like."

"She's found it, all right. There ain't another damn thing to do up here but mourn. 'Taint so bad in summer, but in winter— why, say! You can't take a car out from November 'til May. When it ain't snow it's mud up to your hubs. An' ruts? Gawd!"

"That's nice," said Piggy. "What's a guy do with himself?"

"Chews straws—an' gabs. These rubes up here—say, you wait 'til you know 'em like I do. All winter! Gawd!"

"How long you goin' to stay?"

"Dunno. The old man never tells me nothin', but I hope he takes time to sleep. We drove all night."

"You did? Huh! Not for mine! What's eatin' him?"

"Search me. I guess sump'n happened. I see him out on the terrace this mornin' jawin' Celia. She's his daughter, an' sump'n's wrong with her head."

"Crazy?"

"Well, sort o'. They've had her up here now for pretty near three months, an' they never let her out o' sight day or night. There's somebody with her. She an' Mis' Scott was in Yurrop an' the old man went over an' brought 'em back here. He says the girl ain't crazy yet, but they act like they're scared she's goin' to be. I guess she tries to run away an' kill herself or sump'n, 'cause he's had barbed wire put all around the place an' got some dogs to turn loose at night. They say she's scared of her life of 'em."

"Gee!" said Piggy sympathetically. "That's tough luck."

"Sure is. She's a pretty girl, too. I always liked her."

"Good people to work for? Been with 'em long?"

"Five years. They're all right—some ways. Pay well. But the old man's a Tartar. They call him G. A. down home—Gawd Almighty. He wants to run the earth—an' he comes darn near doin' it. I'll say that for him. But you have to be on the job, all right."

"Day and night, looks like."

"Well, not so much. I guess he's fixed to stay here awhile now. Anyhow, he was at the office late last night gettin' ready. We never left New York 'til midnight, and we sure did burn up the road to get here quick. He told me to fill up with gas right away, but he always does when we get up here. He's a big business man and likely to be called back in a hurry. I guess he's goin' to stay a few days, though. Hope he does, for I want some sleep. Besides, it's goin' to rain. See them clouds over Monadnock way?"

"I hope he does, too," said Piggy. "Then maybe I'll see you again. It's awful lonesome up here. My name's Pete Brown."

"Mine's Jim Cody."

"I ain't goin' to have much to do. Maybe take Mrs. Smith out for an hour or two every day and tinker at the car. S'pose I drop in to see you some time?"

"Nix on that! The old man don't want strangers 'round. He says they excite Celia. But I could meet you here sometimes."

"All right, you're on. I see you got that new speedometer. How's she work?"

They strolled over to their cars, lingering awhile in technical converse as to their respective merits. With an eye on the New York license plates, Scott's man remarked:

"Thought you said you come from out West?"

"We did—Seattle," Piggy returned evenly. "But we didn't bring our car. Bought this one in New York the other day. Mrs. Smith was in a hurry to get here, so the feller said we could use his license number 'till we got one of our own. I gotta see about that, too, right away. Well, I'd better be showin' up in the Square. She's shoppin' and might want me. So long."

"See you later," Cody yawned. "Gee! I'm likely to go to sleep on the way home!"

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

"WELL, my darling daughter this is our last evening together. Let us make it a memorable one."

There was something in my father's voice as he spoke the words which startled me. It was a mournfulness of timbre utterly foreign to his usual resonant tones. But it was also given me to know that he was unconscious of his own betrayal of emotion, and I was careful to make my answer the casual protest against his speech which would naturally be mine.

"Don't put it like that", I said with pretended pettishness. "You make me shiver. Anyone would think you were going to the ends of the earth instead of a mere hundred miles."

He gave me a quick, searching look, and I realized that I had said something which had startled him. The next instant, however, he was his old debonair, polished self with every facial expression every intonation of his voice carefully trained to show nothing which he did not wish exposed to the world.

"Don't you realize, my dearest," he said with solemnity, "that to be a hundred miles away from you is indeed like the ends of the earth to your old father?"

"No More Good-byes"

From my corner of the luxurious limousine which he had chartered for this, our last evening's excursion, I stretched an eager hand to his enfolding one.

"Then you shouldn't live that far away from me," I said reproachfully. "How many times have I told you that before? I think I shall go apartment hunting for you next week and find something to suit you near us. Then if you'll invite us to the farm this summer, the problem will be solved. There will be no more good byes. I hate the word anyway."

"Not more than I do," my father answered and his hand tightened on mine with an almost convulsive clutch. The tenacity of the clasp lasted but an instant, but he kept my hand in his while he made an abrupt announcement. It had nothing to do with our mutual loathing of the word, "good bye", and with a quick depression of my spirits I realized that my father had assented only to my dislike of farewells. He had not agreed, as he might very well have done, to my assertion that there would be no more farewells for us.

Madge's Father Gives Her News

Insistently there came back to me the psychic little conviction that there lay something behind this trip of my father's to New York which I did not understand, but I had no time to dwell upon it, for his announcement was put in the form of a question.

"Did I tell you that Hugh Grantland was coming back to New York almost at once?" he asked.

"No, you didn't," I answered, trying hard to make my voice casual, but succeeding not at all. For though there may be reactions which come to me at the mention of Hugh Grantland's name, indifference is not one of them. I know, however, that my father would sympathize with my genuine pleasure at the news, where I should have had to disguise my feeling from Dicky.

"I suppose the news was in your coded cablegram." I said. "I hope I gave you those words correctly."

"There wasn't a single mistake," he rejoined. "Not that it would have mattered," he went on hastily. "It was a trivial message to my mind not worth the cable tolls. There was no reason, either for him to send word that he was coming home. But Hugh is so economical of his time as he is prodigal of his money. He never sends a letter when he possibly can telephone, telegraph, wireless or cable his messages."

"VINCO" IS BEST FOR THE BOWELS

Millions of Boxes Sold Without Advertising. Druggists Amazed at Quick Success

True merit is the only explanation of the fact that "VINCO" Herb Tablets have so quickly become a big national seller without advertising.

If constipated, bilious, or you suffer from sour, gassy stomach, feel irritable; have no energy and hate to get up in the morning, by all means try simple, sensible "VINCO." Get a 25c box of your druggist. Take a tablet tonight! Feel fine tomorrow! Do a double day's work! Keep feeling and looking young!

Not a drop of dope in "VINCO" Herb Tablets. Made of herbs, roots and barks—a pleasant chocolate coated tablet. No griping—no nausea. Acts gently but thoroughly—always the same—always effective. "VINCO" relieves where ordinary laxatives fail.

Ask your druggist about "VINCO." He knows. Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel and harsh physics. Use only "VINCO" to regulate the bowels. Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO." They, too, will appreciate the difference between harsh physics and gentle, harmless "VINCO" Herb Tablets.—Adv.

A Happy Woman

A MAN dreams of wealth, success and power.
A woman dreams of a home of her own and babies to love.

Happy is the young woman whose dream is fulfilled. With good health, housework is not a burden. Her home echoes to the prattle of healthy children. She must not fail those tiny hands. Her husband is still her comrade and confidant, sharing her new responsibilities. She is content.

Happy, too, is the older woman who holds her children's children in her arms and lives to see a new generation dreaming dreams of its own.

A young girl in Iowa was in such a weakened condition that she had to leave school. One day, after being in poor health for about two years, she picked up an advertising booklet and read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began to take your medicine," she writes. "Now I am a housekeeper with six children and I have taken it before each was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."

INDIANA PROBE REKINDLED AS "STEVIE" TALKS

Grand Jury Deputy Visits Stephenson Behind Prison Walls

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 15—"Stevie" has talked. Stevie is back in the fold.

This was the message brought back here today to rekindle the dying embers of Indiana's independent political house-cleaning.

It was brought here from behind the grim walls of the state penitentiary at Michigan City where "Stevie"—D. C. Stephenson, ex-klan dragon, who, it is said, pulled the wires which actuated Indiana's alleged puppets of state and municipal officialdom—is in "solitary" serving a life sentence for the death of Madge Oberholtzer almost a year ago.

And the man who brought the new life blood to the emaciated investigation was a public official of high standing—Grand Jury Deputy William H. Schaefer.

Schaefer, accompanied by Earl Klenck, former ally of Stephenson and co-defendant with him in the Oberholtzer trial, left Indianapolis two days ago, shortly after Stephenson's dramatic appearance before the grand jury.

The trip was a compromise arrangement. Court Prosecutor Asher was not satisfied with Stephenson's attitude and Asher, devoted pal of "Stevie," could not believe the street corner gossip that his idol had turned him down—and sold out to the very men he had said he would expose in return for alleged promises of freedom.

Asher had wanted to make the trip to the penitentiary himself. He had wanted to talk with "Stevie just for 10 minutes." But he had been unable to arrange it, so he compromised on sending Klenck as his deputy.

Late yesterday, Klenck and Schaefer entered the prison. The gates which Warden Daly had for days held steadfastly closed, despite requests and official commands, swung back to a prosecutor's order for admission.

They were with Stephenson for three hours and while they were not disposed to comment too freely on the interview today, they were palpably elated.

Both indicated that Stephenson had gone over all the mass of charges that have emanated from him. He discussed and reiterated all of them, verbally, it is believed, but it is known that he did not reveal the location of the documentary evidence which supports his allegations. This, he maintained, as he has in the past, will be produced when the circumstances warrant.

Both stand ready to give an account of the conference to the grand jury during the day. Early indications were that they would be summoned as soon as that body convened, since it was virtually admitted late yesterday that the work of the investigators had entered the autumn of existence unless something vitally pertinent could be developed immediately.

PRIMARY LEAGUE MAKES REPLY TO C. L. KNIGHT

Declares Burke Needs No Defense; Praises Reputation for Honesty

Cleveland, Oct. 15—Replying to the statement of Charles L. Knight, spokesman for the faction seeking to amend the Ohio primary election law, the executive committee of the Primary Defense League here today issued an open letter, reiterating charges of fraud in connection with the circulation of the primary amendment petitions and caustically commenting on Knight's refusal to debate with J. F. Burke, president of the Primary League.

"Mr. Burke needs no defense at the hands of this committee," the statement declares in part. "His reputation for honesty and ability is too well established for you to injure it, as you were desperately seeking an excuse to avoid debate. We chose him because we knew with what steadfastness he would adhere to the truth and the facts; and incidentally, we knew you knew it. In the 15 points, Mr. Burke offers to maintain and prove before any audience where you can reply and answer face-to-face, he covers every argument pertaining to the direct primary and the amendment. He also declared he would prove your petition was crooked and corrupt. We do not wonder that you bar the possibility of meeting anyone in debate who insists on exposing these facts."

OKLAHOMA PUTS FIRST HOME COTTON ON MART

Ponca City, Okla., Oct. 15—Cotton growing has made its first appearance in northern Oklahoma.

The first bale from Pawnee county was marketed by J. C. Curtis, a negro, and brought him $107.50, including a bonus of $10 by the Ponca City chamber of commerce for the first bale to be brought to the gin recently built here.

Gins have now been established at Marland, Ponca City and Enid, almost a direct east and west string across the northern part of the state, and the districts which have been known as oil producers only may become important factors in the cotton growing industry of the state.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME URGED FOR CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Oct. 15—Advocates of daylight saving time for California have launched an aggressive campaign to secure the earliest possible legislation to make the plan effective.

At present it is pointed out, practically every California city which operates in a business way with eastern cities is under a serious handicap. Daylight saving will place the state on a parity with all large eastern communities now operating under its schedule.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce is particularly active in the campaign and has marshalled numerous facts to be placed before the voters of the state.

Daylight saving Chamber of Commerce representatives claim, is practicable in California because of the size of the state which exceeds the entire area of New England, and is conducive to efficiency and health as well as economy.

30 YEARS OF MISERY ENDED BY PLANT JUICE

Columbus Man Says He's Stronger For It Now Than He Was Two Years Ago, When "It Rid" Him Of Troubles.

"I am stronger for Dellingham's Plant Juice today than I was two years ago, when it relieved me of stomach trouble from which I had suffered for over 30 years," said T. J. Chapman, 163 Berger St., Columbus, O.

"I've always been a great believer in herbal medicines and that's why I happened to try Plant Juice. Well, I hadn't taken it long until my appetite came back and what I ate digested perfectly, as I wasn't troubled any more with gas. The nervousness left me, my bowels got regulated and I got so I could sleep fine.

"I wouldn't have missed Plant Juice for $50 a bottle. I'm glad to recommend it."

U. S. WILL SEEK CAUSE OF CRIME AMONG CHILDREN

Will Gather Statistics To Find Cause of Growing Delinquency Cases

Washington, Oct. 15.—A psychological study to get at the bottom of causes for juvenile crime, and other physical and mental deficiencies of children has been started by the children's bureau of the labor department.

Arrangements have been made for cooperation of the federal census bureau, juvenile courts, schools and social organizations in the preparation of essential statistics.

On the basis of rough figures officials estimated that there are 800,000 delinquent, neglected, dependent, crippled, blind and deaf children under part time or private care in the United States.

Because of the inadequacy of statistics and the lack of knowledge of the situation in part, experts admit that it is impossible to say whether conditions are better or worse.

Defectives Increase

Figures show less delinquency among juveniles, but a large increase in the number of mental and physical defectives under care or institutions. It was explained, however, that the increase means that more adequate attention is being given to unfortunates rather than that of frequency and defect, cases is increasing.

In the 130 social foam centers [illegible] the following particulars were sought:

1 Approximately 200,000 children appeared in juvenile court last year, some being sent to correctional institutions, other placed on probation.

2 Private and public agencies are caring for 218,000 dependent children.

3 There are 200,000 blind, crippled or deaf children under public care.

4 About 137,000 mental defectives are cared for in private and public schools.

5 The average age at which juveniles appear before court is 17 years.

The labor department has made arrangements with courts from juvenile courts for cooperation in compiling statistics as to child delinquency. An effort is being made to extend this service to all juvenile courts in America.

Experts pointed to the grave necessity of obtaining accurate statistics as to dependent, delinquent and defective children, they being characterized as the first step in bringing about an improvement.

Census To Help

Future census figures will contain many of these vital statistics.

Poverty and ignorance, in the opinion of experts, are the primary causes of the troubles of children. Blame for condition falls upon the parents in most cases, in their lack of knowledge of training methods, or failure to take advantage of the many public and private services cooperating in child training.

Truly delinquent, however, usually can be traced back to poverty and ignorance.

Inadequacy of government funds to direct juvenile work has led many social agencies and other institutions in the large cities to launch inquests into this social problem. One plan for the investigation is based upon psychoanalysis of entire families.

The close relation between home conditions and juvenile delinquency is generally acknowledged, according to the census bureau.

Out of 26,000 juvenile case studies it was found that only forty-one per cent of the children had been living with both parents.

In frequent cases incompatibility of the parents has a wide and detrimental influence not only on the mental development but the physical well being of the children. Divorce of parents is often found beneficial to children where the mother and father exist in constant turmoil.

How to Secure the Use of City Water

After Having Petitioned City Council for the Extension and That Body Has Passed the Necessary Resolution

AFTER ALL PETITIONERS HAVE SO APPLIED FOR WATER AND THEIR CREDIT HAS BEEN PROPERLY ESTABLISHED, THE WATER MAIN WILL BE LAID DOWN UPON THE STREET AND THE SERVICE CONNECTIONS IMMEDIATELY EXTENDED TO THE CURB LINE.

The increased volume of water coming through the two main service lines is equivalent to the results that would have been obtained by moving the company's plant from its present location to the junction of Silver-st and the Harding Highway, where the two lines were hooked up Thursday, officials state.

The new main force line is 6,100 feet in length and is constructed of 24-inch pipe from the plant to the Harding Highway and 20-inch pipe along the highway to Silver-st. The old line, which is 16-inch pipe, is laid along the opposite side of the highway.

Prior to hooking up the lines, Thursday, the company spent two days flushing out the pipes and placing them in shape for use.

With the main line work completed, Water Co. workmen will begin at once installing service extension throughout the city. Numerous applications for extension on various streets have been filed and granted by City Council.

Fortunately but few men say what they really mean—otherwise blacked eyes would be more common.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT FIREMEN'S FUND

a board of which the Director of Public Safety will be chairman. The rules will designate the age of retirement and the amount of pension payments.

Age Varies

In Ohio cities which have pension funds the age of retirement varies, a few placing firemen on the eligible list after 20 years of service. This provison is not approved by many Ohio fire department officials, however, experience showing that it results in men frequently being placed on the retired list when they are barely beyond the age of 40.

The plan in effect in Akron is regarded as one of the best in the state. There a graduated scale of pensions gives firemen the privilege of retiring at different periods of their terms of service, with the man who quits active duty after 25 or 30 years receiving a larger pension than the one who chooses to retire after 20 years.

There is one disadvantage to pension systems for both policemen and firemen, local officials say. As soon as a pension fund is established the department is automatically deprived of insurance provided by the state workmen's compensation law and as a consequence aid for firemen of policemen injured while on duty can be obtained only through action of City Council. This condition will exist next month when the ordinance establishing a police pension fund, adopted by Council last Monday night, goes into effect. This is not regarded as reason for strong objections to the pension system, however, as experience in all Ohio cities has shown the pension plan to be the most practicable and beneficial to both the public and its employes.

REGISTRATION CONFERENCES HELD BY G. O. P.

Sessions Are Held in All of City's 39 Precincts by Committeemen

Plans for getting unregistered voters to the polls today and Saturday, designated by the Marion County Board of Elections as the final chance for registration prior to election, were discussed at meetings of Republican organization workers in all of the city's 39 precincts, Thursday night. As a result of these conferences, the Republican central committee representative, assisted by a corps of workers, is on duty in every precinct, checking over the lists of those eligible to vote, for the purpose of effecting somewhere near 100 per cent registration.

Similar meetings were also held in the 53 rural and village precincts throughout the county but as voters there are not required to register, the discussions were taken up chiefly with plans for getting out as large a percentage of the vote as possible on election day.

At both city and country gatherings, arrangements were also made for advertising the Republican rally to be held in the State Auditorium the night of Oct. 20, when addresses will be made by United States Senator Simeon D. Fess of Yellow Springs and Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, Republican House leader in the Ohio General Assembly.

An average of about 10 party workers attended each of Thursday night's conferences, according to reports received by B. J. Shelton, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, who planned the gatherings. Holding of these meetings is a new feature in county politics, this being the first time that the plan was ever used, party leaders say.

In addition to the informal discussion of party affairs by the various groups of workers, a brief address was given at each meeting by a representative of the county organization.

The conferences were held at the homes of the persons listed below, all of whom are members of the Republican County Central Committee:

be surprised if the desperate gang had a headquarters in the Watchung Hills and numbered 20 or 30 men. The heavily armed troopers, carrying riot guns and gas bombs in addition to their rifles and pistols, have formed a cordon around a 30-mile area.

Because of the speedy alarm sent out yesterday, it is not believed the bandits could have escaped from this region.

Not "Inside" Job

The eight robbers in two automobiles who swooped down on the mail truck yesterday, killed John Enz, driver of the mail truck, and wounded John Quinn, the assistant driver and Motorcycle Policeman Jacob Christman, who was guarding the shipment. A deadly spray of machine gun bullets scattered the crowd that rushed into the street at the sound of the first volley.

Two motorcycle policemen followed the bandits' car as they whizzed out of town at terrific speed, but were outdistanced.

Postmaster Charles E. Bishop, of Elizabeth, said the robbery could not have been planned with the connivance of any postal employe, since not even he knew that the large payroll was to be shipped at that time.

TO REFEREE GAME

President Francis Bacon of the Central Ohio Officials' Association of this city will referee the Muskingum-Cincinnati game Saturday at Ada.

4,000 PERSONS GREET ARRIVAL OF DIRIGIBLE

Los Angeles Makes Trip from Lakehurst to Detroit in 16 Hours

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15—The Los Angeles, America's largest airship, arrived at Ford airport at 3:30 a. m. today, completing the journey from Lakehurst, N. J., in 16 hours and 25 minutes.

It was hailed to the mooring mast at Ford airport at 5:30 a. m. as 4,000 spectators lined the roads nearby. The crowd had waited since midnight, and grew steadily heavier after the Los Angeles came into sight from the southeast in the direction of Toledo, Ohio.

The time consumed in mooring the huge airship was due to no mishap, but only a desire of naval and airport officials to go slowly and safely. The great airship was only a short distance away from the field when it was sighted. The throbbing of its engines was the first sign it was near. Then the crowd noted the great dirigible's black outline against the stars. The night was deeply dark, barely discernible until a big searchlight was turned on it.

Instantly, it turned into a shining silver mass that flashed magnificently against the darkness.

OHIOANS UP HALF NIGHT FOR AIRSHIP

Cleveland, Oct. 15 — Thousands of Ohioans who remained up half the night to see the Los Angeles enroute to Detroit, breathed a sigh of relief when word was received of the safe arrival early today of the huge dirigible after a memorable battle in the clouds above Ohio through the night, with a stiff northeast gale off Lake Erie.

The gale blew the Los Angeles off her course twice and delayed her schedule several hours.

The big ship lost her course over Cuyahoga County and missed Sandusky, Ohio, where she was scheduled to appear, and where hundreds of citizens waited to catch a glimpse of the craft. She passed Akron, the world center of dirigible conatruction, an hour late, where the booming of whistles and the ringing of bells marked her passage.

A radio station there was in communication with the officers in charge of the dirigible.

Having sighted the Los Angeles, the searchlight crew turned out their light so as not to blind the crew in landing operations.

Drifts Silently

The airship drifted silently over the airport 800 feet up and headed toward Detroit as its officers reduced its altitude. They were able to spot the field and watch operations there as the airport was brilliantly illuminated by ground lights. Five minutes after the Los Angeles had crossed the field, it came back out of the darkness and by this time was seen to have dropped about 400 feet to the 400-foot level.

A low line was thrown from the nose of the vessel to the men who waited at the top of the 210-foot mooring mast. The first time, the rope missed and the Los Angeles circled the field for another try. It missed again. A third time the airship got into position and this time the rope was caught and made fast to the cable that is connected with electric motors in the house at the bottom of the mast. The rope and cable were tied together at 4:35 a. m.

Crew Stays Aboard

The motors started and slowly the cable was reeled in, something like a fisherman reels in a fish. The Los Angeles did not dip down in its forward end where the cable was attached, but came down horizontally. Once in a while, its engines were turned over a few times to bring the craft closer to the mast.

At 5:30 o'clock the Los Angeles was down even with the top of the mast and mooring operations ceased.

The crew remained on board.

It was expected, however, that Lieut. Comm. Charles R. Rosendahl, its commanding officer, who was senior officer of the Shenandoah, sister ship of the Los Angeles, that was destroyed in a storm over Ava, Ohio, last year, would disembark later in the morning and perhaps meet Henry Ford, who built the mooring mast.

Admiral W. A. Moffatt, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, also is a passenger on the airship.

MINNESOTA HAS 110 MILLIONAIRES, IS CLAIM

Figures on Richest Men in United States Revealed by Revenue Collector

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 15—Minnesota has 110 millionaires, and of this number, thirty-five in Minneapolis, the largest city in the state, according to reports made public by the internal revenue collector here. The survey also shows that Minnesota ranks as eighth among the states in millionaire population.

There are 23 millionaires in St. Paul and 19 in Duluth, the report continues.

Other figures made public show that there are 11,000 millionaires in the United States today.

New York has 2,800 while North Dakota is the only state with none. South Dakota has only one.

There is only one billionaire in the country.

One person in every 10,450 in the country has a million or more.

Seventy-four persons pay $1,000,000 or more each in income taxes.

In 1914 there were only 44 millionaires to 1,000,000 of population while in 1926 there are 95 to every 1,000,000.

The increase in the number of millionaires is due to the wonderful prosperity of corporate business, the survey shows, and many war-made millionaires are being "squeezed out."

JACOBY SPEAKS TO MT. GILEAD KIWANIS CLUB

Tax Situation in Ohio Discussed at Length by Marion Man

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 15—J. W. Jacoby, of Marion, president of the Ohio State Association of Real Estate Boards and vice president of the City Building & Loan Company, of Marion, was the speaker at the weekly noon-day luncheon meeting of the Mt. Gilead Kiwanis club yesterday at the Globe hotel.

In his talk Mr. Jacoby discussed especially the tax situation in Ohio. He states that 19 per cent of the people actually live on the farm and that now they have the best opportunity of all time. Farm products are now sold at home.

The rapid growth of population from 105 million in 1905 to over 117 million was discussed and the speaker predicted that it would reach 169 million by 1940.

"In times past the troubles of the farmer have been that he had to pay more for his necessities than he could get for his products. The speaker urged that the solution of the agricultural problem lies in the utilization and consumption of by-products. The farmer must be educated and keep pace with the times in which he lives."

Mr. Jacoby advocated the establishment of modern elevators over the country, which would carry over until the next year bumper crops and thus relieve the problem of over production.

"Know Ohio" week will be inaugurated Nov. 14. Programs will be broadcast when representatives from different associations will speak. The Kiwanis clubs will be asked to put on programs and schools will be asked to spend an hour learning about Ohio.

Discussing the St. Lawrence waterways project, the speaker stated that it is proposed to spend 260 million dollars to let ocean liners in to the Great Lakes. The freight rates on land and water were compared. Mr. Jacoby stated that ten cents on the freight per bushel from Chicago to Liverpool could be saved by this route. He informed the club that only 30 miles of canal near Montreal was all that would be needed to complete the project.

Mr. Jacoby proved to be a forceful and interesting speaker and demonstrated his large fund of information upon his subject.

Of course a guilty man never gets a fair trial—from his viewpoint.

BROOKS FUNERAL HELD AT MARYSVILLE TODAY

Death Is Mystery to Dayton Authorities; Body Found on Fence

Marysville, Oct. 15 — Funeral services were held here today at the L. H. Miller funeral parlors for Noah Brooks, aged 40, well-known resident of Union County. The body was brought here yesterday from Dayton, where he had resided.

The death of Mr. Brooks is a mystery to authorities of that city. His lifeless body was found hanging over a rail fence on the outskirts of Dayton. It is thought possible considering the nature of the injuries to his body, that he was struck by an automobile while walking on the road and had dragged himself to the fence, where he was found.

The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dow Brooks, both deceased, and was born and raised near Ridgeway. A brother, Hiram Brooks, lives four miles north of Marysville on the Marion road. Another brother, George Brooks, lives in the southern part of the state. A sister is deceased.

GALION HIGH TO MEET MT. VERNON GRIDDERS

Crawford County Bunch Hopes To Avenge Last Year's Defeat

Galion, Oct. 15 — Coach "Dave" Eaton of Galion High School put his fighting Orangemen through a stiff practice session last evening, the first real workout since their defeat at the hands of Mansfield last Saturday. In the final period of that game, which sent Mansfield into the lead in the race for the N. C. O. L. cup, Eaton's players seemed to lose their characteristic "punch," and critics of the gold game advanced the theory that the team had had "too much football."

Accordingly, Monday's practice session was cancelled and only brief signal drills held until last night's scrimmage.

Saturday, a heavy Mt. Vernon team will line up against Galion on Heise field and expectations are that fans of the game will see a gridiron classic. It will be the first time in many years that a Mt. Vernon aggregation has appeared in Galion and the high school cheering section is prepared to give them a rousing welcome. Last year the Orangemen were handed at 21-0 defeat at Mt. Vernon and this year a better and more experienced team is hoping for revenge.

It is doubtful whether either of the Kersch brothers, lightning halfbacks of the Orange and Blue squad will get into the contest. "Little" Kersch who was badly injured in last week's game spent several days in the Mansfield hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and has been unable to report for practice this week while his teammate brother is still handicapped by a badly sprained ankle sustained in the hard fought battle with Harding High.

With these exceptions the usual starting lineup will probably be used and hope run high in Galion's camp that their stalwart warriors will get back into the winning column.

Chandler, Mrs. Jacob Naus, Mrs. Jacob Stalder, Mrs. W. O. Thomas, Mrs. J. F. Emptage, Mrs. Dwight Clinger Mrs. Henry Emptage, Mrs. John Clinger, Misses Mina Chandler and Myrtle Emptage. Bucyrus Girl and Chicago Man Wed at Bride's Home

Bucyrus, Oct. 15 — An elaborate autumn wedding with many pretty appointments was solemnized Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when Miss Gladys Brown became the bride of Mr. Ralph L. Foss of Chicago, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brown, 521 S. Spring-st.

Rev. T. S. Weaver, pastor of the Hopley ave Evangelical church performed the ring ceremony in the presence of fifty relatives and friends. Just prior to the wedding Miss Ruth Henderson, contralto, charmingly sang "I Love You Truly" with Miss Martha Bidler at the piano. The couple came down the steps to the improvised altar at the fire place in the living room to the strains of the wedding march played by the bride's sister, Miss Dorothea Brown. The fireplace was banked with huge boughs of autumn leaves, tall stemmed vases of orchid chrysanthemums and fall garden flowers. The rooms were a profusion of flowers in the autumn tones of russett, gold and lavendar.

The bride wore a beautiful model of cream lace over coral satin in buffant style and carried a colonial boquet in coral and pink. The couple were attended by Miss Helen Foss, sister of the groom and the were orchid georgette and carried lavender and white chrysanthemums. Charles King of Chicago was groomsman.

A luncheon followed the service and Mrs. Edgar Heber, Miss Ruth Heiser and Mrs. T. A. Henderson, relatives of the bride served the guests.

She has been a teacher at the Killbourne school and at Chatfield school for the past three years. Mr. Foss is with the Central Electric Co. and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Foss, of Chicago. The couple are to make their home at 5203 Kimbark ave. They left last evening by motor for Chicago.

MANY SHIFTS MADE IN MT GILEAD LINEUP

Zolman Placed in Backfield and Stevens Takes End Position

Mt Gilead, Oct 15—Gerald Zolman, veteran tackle on last year's team, who has been playing end so far this year, has been shifted to the backfield, by Coach Matheny, high school mentor, in an effort to get more offensive power on the high school football team. Boe Stevens, the diminutive half, will take Zolman's place at end.

Zolman will add power to the Purple offense and should greatly enhance Gilead's scoring strength. He is a triple threat man, can hit the line hard, runs the ends well, is a fair passer and has been outpunted very little this year.

The local eleven meets Crestline tomorrow. In spite of the 60 to 0 drubbing received by Crestline at the hands of Shelby, it is expected that it will be a hard game, especially in view of the weakened condition of the local team.

In last night's workout against the second team, two touchdowns were scored by the varsity, while the scrubs were able to score once and again took the ball to the goal line and lost on a fumble. Matheny was not satisfied with the showing of the team and will probably give them a workout again tonight.

Van-Bur Radio Co. Receives 26 Invitations to Locate Factory in Various Cities

Community Boosters Throughout Country Not Overlooking Any Opportunity To Increase Their Industrial and Business Resources; All Offer Special Inducements

Community boosters throughout the country are not overlooking any opportunities to increase the industrial and business resources of their respective localities, according to the results of the recent announcement that the Van-Bur Radio Co. of Marion is planning to establish a factory to take care of the rapidly growing demands for its products.

Since the news was first published in The Star several weeks ago and later in other papers throughout Ohio, Arthur A. Van Atta, president of the company has received letters from 26 Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations inviting him to consider their towns and cities as the prospective location of the factory. In nearly every case, it was stated that special inducements would be offered the local company as a means of obtaining the plant for these places.

"I am strong for Marion, and should the factory be built it will be located here," Mr. Van Atta said today.

That it will be necessary for the Van-Bur Co. to provide its own plant for taking care of the business, which is increasing steadily, was indicated today by Mr. Van Atta, who believes that production may be under way on an extensive scale here some time next year.

At present, the company's products, the main features of which are a long tone travel speaker, and a speaker cabinet, are being manufactured at four plants, two in Coshocton, one in Uhrichsville and the local factory which is operating in the Schwinger building on N. Prospect-st. The plant here has limited production facilities, however, and most of the equipment is made in the three outside factories.

Orders continue to pour in at the office of the company, officials state, and production facilities are inadequate. The long tone travel speaker has proven especially popular with jobbers and dealers. The device, which many dealers say is the best kind on the market, was perfected by Clarence E. Burk, former Columbus man who now resides at 299 Dahlia-av and is associated with Mr. Van Atta in managing the Van-Bur Co. Mr. Burk is widely known in radio trade, having for a number of years been director of sales in Ohio for the Stewart Warner Co.

Tomorrow to be Biggest Saturday in Football History

Score of Intersectional Games Draw Interest from All Over United States

Every Major Team Will Be on Parade; Good Games Will Be All Over, Like Paint on Fence, Declares Davis J. Walsh

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—Fill the eyes with blinders, the ears with cotton,, the mouth with hot potato and the feet with plenty of galloping horse and the betting would be one to two at that, within the hour, you would arrive on the scene of a first class football game tomorrow afternoon.

You couldn't miss. The good ones will be all over like paint on a fence.

Suppose, for example, that you wake up in Philadelphia, which is something one does there, all founded reports to the contrary. The Pennsylvania-Chicago game, featuring the meeting of representative teams of two sections, would be yours for the asking.

New York? You would have your choice between the Columbia-Ohio State and the New York University-Tulane game, also of great intersectional merit.

New Haven? Yale and Dartmouth would be there to divert you.

Palo Alto? Stanford and Nevada will oblige.

Atlanta? Georgia Tech and Alabama.

Dallas? Vanderbilt and Texas.

South Bend? Penn State and Notre Dame.

Los Angeles? Southern California and Occidental.

Ann Arbor? Michigan and Minnesota.

West Point? The Army and Syracuse.

Urbana? Illinois and Iowa.

Seattle? Washington and Idaho.

Princeton? The Navy and Princeton.

Berkeley? California and Oregon Aggies.

Anywhere In the Missouri Valley? The whole conference will be at war with the exception of Missouri, which will be hooked up with Southern Methodist.

All on Parade

This survey barely scratches the surface. It will be one of the biggest October Saturdays in football history and every major team will be on parade. Harvard and California, just a couple of good ones gone wrong, will have their chance to swing back in stride again. Harvard will play William and Mary at Cambridge and probably will emerge from the maiden class, in consequence. Just what California may be able to do, if anything, with the Aggies is the Bears' problem, not mine.

Another prospective comeback is the Nebraska team, which lost to Missouri last week.

The corn-fed outfit will play Washington University at St. Louis. The rest of the Missouri Valley conference will be extremely active. Drake playing Oklahoma, Grinnell meeting Iowa State and Kansas facing Kansas Aggies.

So will the Big Ten Conference, with the following schedule lined up:

Northwestern vs. Indiana; Purdue vs. Wisconsin; Illinois vs. Iowa and Michigan vs. Minnesota.

Likewise, the coast conference, featuring California and Oregon Aggies; Stanford and Nevada; Washington and Idaho and Washington State and Montana.

Those southern games will have a meaning all their own, too. Georgia Tech, having beaten one champion, Tulane, will take on another in Alabama, while Vanderbilt has picked up a live one in Texas. Other southern meetings of importance will bring together Kentucky and Washington and Lee; Alabama Poly and Louisiana State; Baylor and Trinity; Mercer and Florida; Texas A. and M., and New Mexico and Virginia Poly and Maryland.

Cornell will take a fling at the intersectional business with Michigan State as an accomplice, but the East claims several games of greater importance than this including those between Pittsburgh and Colgate, Rutgers and Holy Cross, W. and J. and Carnegie Tech and Georgetown and West Virginia.

Another good one will grow out where men are football players, sometimes. This will be the annual meeting between Colorado and Wyoming at Boulder.

INDIANA GETS HARVARD GAME

Crimson Not Permitted To Make Trip West

Cambridge, Mass. Oct. 15—An announcement was made today that Harvard will meet University of Indiana in a football battle at the Stadium on Oct. 29, 1927.

University of Michigan wanted the Crimson to go west but local authorities ruled against it. A revamped Harvard eleven will meet William and Mary at the Stadium tomorrow. The defense of the Crimson is centered on stopping the forward passing of Matsu, the Japanese quarterback of the Virginia team. Working out at Dean Academy Field, Franklin, today, the W. and M. squad was equipped with green headguards.

WORKS HARD AT HARVARD

Dwight F. Davis, Jr., son of the U. S. secretary of war and donor of the famous Davis cup in tennis, is one of the promising candidates for the freshman baseball team at Harvard this year.

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES WATCHED BY MIDDLE WEST

Chicago and Ohio State Go East Saturday

Chicago, Oct. 15—Battle lines will be drawn along three intersectional frontiers by midwestern football teams tomorrow, while in the homeland some of the most promising elevens in the Big Ten will take off on the annual conference championship chase.

The outstanding intersectional contest of the day from the West's point of view, will be the Chicago-Pennsylvania game at Philadelphia, in which Coach A. A. Stagg's choristers are hopeful but hardly qualified for victory. Pennsylvania defeated the Maroons last year, 7 to 0.

Next in importance is the Ohio State-Columbia game at New York, which will mark the first appearance of a Big Ten team in the eastern metropolis. Ohio State, rated the dark horse of the conference, scored a 9 to 0 victory over Columbia at Columbus in 1925, and bids fair to repeat.

CHICAGO TEAM MAY USE AERIAL ATTACK

Philadelphia, Oct. 15—That Pennsylvania looks for a passing game from Chicago when the two inter-sectional rivals meet on Franklin Field tomorrow was strongly intimated by members of the local board of strategy today. Penn defeated the Maroon last year on a pass, Rogers to Thayer, and this pair will be available tomorrow.

At Wascolonis, regular fullback, continued to limp today, but Trainer Lawson Robertson said he expected to have the injured player ready for the game. A crowd of 60,000 was forecast by the advance sale of tickets.

TULANE VISITS NEW YORK, TOO

New York, Oct. 15—Representative elevens of two great sections, the South and middle-West, will arrive in New York today for their intersectional battles with eastern teams tomorrow.

The green wave, otherwise known as Tulane, one of several claimants of the 1925 championship, will arrive from New Orleans about noon and will be officially received by Mayor Walker. The southerners will play New York University, one of the present eastern leaders, at the Yankee Stadium.

Ohio State, scheduled to resume its inter-sectional duel with Columbia at the Polo Grounds, will arrive later in the day.

DUNDEE FAVORITE OVER ZIVIC IN ELIMINATIONS

New York, Oct. 15—Joe Dundee, Baltimore welterweight, will clash with Jack Zivic, of Pittsburgh, here tonight in a 10-round bout for the right to meet the champion, Pete Latzo. The champion will see tonight's fight.

Dundee is favored to win because of his victories over Mickey Walker, Tommy Freeman, Sailor Friedman and other leading contenders. Zivic is aggressive and a skillful boxer, however, and has knocked out Lew Tendler, Ray Mitchell and others.

PIONEERS FIGHT AT CINCINNATI

Marietta Holds Penn State Even and Strengthens Line

Marietta, O., Oct. 15—A rejuvenated Marietta College tea will take the field at Cincinnati this Saturday against the Bearcats of the University of Cincinnati. The showing made by the Pioneer College in the second half of the game Saturday in which they held the Penn Staters on even terms, each side scoring 7 points, has put a new spirit into the team.

The Marietta team will present a light forward wall averaging only 160 pounds and the back-field that may well be termed a pony back-field carrying an average of 150 pounds. Given a dry field the Griffmen are expected to open up an attack through the air that may keep the Queen City aggregation in hot water.

The game at Cincinnati will again have injected into it a touch of local color and interest. Waldo Diekman, and Robert Boin both of Cincinnati are likely to start in the backfield and Art Eggenberger will undoubtedly get an opportunity to work at one of the terminals before the final whistle blows. Eggenberger and Diekman were the star batteries on the Marietta College baseball team last spring.

The Marietta line has been greatly strengthened by the return of Bill Rossiter, last year's center. His entry shifts Vaughn Hinkle to a guard position and gives Coach Griffiths another man upon whom to rely for utility work in the line. And that is the biggest problem that the Marietta team is facing, the problem of keeping its men from going out on injuries.

Banker's Friends Elated

"Twelve years ago I became afflicted with stomach trouble which steadily became worse. I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation and on advice of a friend tried MAYR'S with excellent results and since taking it about 2 years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared." TOURNEY SUNDAY CLOSES SEASON FOR ATHLETICS

Crestline, Willard and Richwood Enter Heavily Loaded Teams

Three games Sunday afternoon will close the 1926 season for the Marion Athletics. Weather permitting, a game may be played one week from Sunday, but the management of the Athletics is not too hopeful that they will have the weather, and are not making any arrangements for a game on that date.

Sunday's menu for the baseball fan will be another three-game tournament. Crestline, Willard, Richwood and Marion will be the competing teams.

Emmer and Cross Coming

Crestline will have Frank Emmer of the Cincinnati Reds and "Slick" Cross of the Louisville American Association team, as well as other stars, in the line-up. This team came here last Sunday expecting to take first money, and will come back next Sunday loaded for bear, with the firm intention of getting revenge for the defeat handed out by Marion.

Willard always has a good team, but the management of the railroad team knows that it will be up against stiff opposition in Sunday's series, and is loading up with all the league players they can get.

Richwood Champions Enter

Richwood proved to be the best team in the Heart-of-Ohio League this year, and is of the opinion that had the Marion Athletics been in that league they would not now be claiming the state championship. The Union County team has added a "pro" battery for this series in Fenner of the Massillon Agathons and Harm, formerly of Columbus in the American Association.

Manager Francis W. Bacon intends to start Main and Reese. He has been assured that his action of last Sunday in playing the regular lineup met with the approval of Marion fans and has been asked repeatedly not to change the lineup for Sunday's games.

Lima Entertains Babe Ruth

No word has been received from Lima. Word sent out from there indicates that Babe Ruth is to play there this afternoon against Celina. The Marion Athletics would welcome a chance to meet the only team which holds a victory over the locals which has not been offaced, and would be willing to let Lima play Babe Ruth if it saw fit. The local team is of the opinion that it would take more than the presence of the Bambino to enable Lima to repeat its victory of July 4.

Postal and Traction Men Win Easily in Industrial League Bowling Matches

Pennsylvania-Hocking Valley Team Is Shut Out; Hubers Take One Game from C., D. & M.; Other Big Matches Scheduled Tonight at "Y"

Postoffice and Columbus, Delaware & Marion Traction Co. teams did most of the bowling Thursday night in the Industrial League matches at the Y. M. C. A.

The Mailmen took three games from the Pennsylvania and Hocking Valley railroad team while the C., D. & M. was only giving Huber's one game.

Huber's five had to send in Lantz, a recruit, to win the second game by 20 points. The C., D. & M. team took the first and third games by 26 and 12 point margins and had 18 pins to the good in the totals.

Koons and Lantz were high scorers.

Second Match

Piling up one of the largest margins reported this season in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Bowling League, the Postoffice bowlers shut-out the railroaders from the Pennsylvania and Hocking Valley stations.

The stamp lickers had 107, 115 and 40 points to the good in the three games which gave them a margin of 262 points in the grand totals.

Fetter was high scorer for the winners with 172 in his first game and Burke rolled 160 for the losers.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Harding High is Crippled

Shelby Receives Delaware While Other League Teams Play Only Non-Loop Tilts

Coach Barnhart Pits Light Flashes Against Marion's Heavy Stone-Wall Defense; Three Red and Black Stars Remain Out of Game with Injuries

MARION and Shelby will see the only North Central Ohio League games Saturday. Ashland will start against Harding at the fairgrounds and Delaware will journey to the Curry camp at Shelby.

Non-league games are being played by other teams. Springfield will be at Mansfield and Mt. Vernon's eleven will help Galion keep in condition. Bucyrus High has not been heard from since its 13 to 0 win last week at Delaware.

Ashland's only advantage in Saturday's game is that it will be its fourth game this season while Harding will be playing its third tilt. Records show Ashland, 12 to 7, to New London, 6 to 0, (the same as Harding) and then played a scoreless game at Delaware, its first league game. After it is said Ashland has lost one league game and tied the other losing a non-league game in addition.

Harding High, defeated here by Galion's League eleven, 6 to 0, has one victory and one defeat in the non-league class. Last Saturday the Red and Black squad won for Coach Paul Sprout 15 to 0 at Findlay after losing its opening game 2 to 0 at Columbus Central high.

Ashland Fears Harding

Scoring two touchdowns, 65 and 75 yards respectively against Findlay is no matter at which to be looking cross-eyed. In fact, it has put a big kink in the McDowell High string of light veterans, as they are referred to by Coach Harry J. Barnhart who scouted the Findlay game. Coach Barnhart is a former Findlay College student and resident and it didn't go so well with him to see Harding High's boys act up so much. He talked about the game all the way home and possibly gave his squad of 75 lighting flashes something to think about in his very first lecture this week.

Coach Barnhart, however, didn't learn a whole lot about the Red and Black bearcats by watching the game at Findlay. In fact after the game was over he stated that he didn't know a whole lot more about the team's play than he did before the game started. He promised just one thing, however, and that was that he would bring a fast light well-coached team to Marion Saturday.

"And, may the best team win," chuckled Barney with a twinkle in his eye as he bid the writer farewell.

Marion's Coaches Working

Coach Paul Sprout and his assistant, Allen Compton, feel just a little different about the game here Saturday. They know they have as heavy if not heavier team, man for man. They have some real veteran players who have showed plenty of defensive strength against some of the best teams within a radius of 50 miles. And, in addition, they know also just about what has been going on in the Red and Black training and practice sessions.

Both coaches have met Coach Barnhart's style of play a number of times and when Ashland appears on the local field at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the locals will be well guided.

Locals Are Confident

True enough, Coach Sprout may have the same fault as a great many of the country's leading coaches. He may always be just a little over confident. But, that should be an easy matter to remedy. At least it is one good thing to inspire his men onward. It always takes a much stronger team to break the over confidence of another team. Without abundance of confidence a team is an easy loser, according to a majority of stories we have been told.

Without offering alibis and for your information only, we would just like to say that Harding appeared as strong as ever at practice last night, even though several of the veterans were on the hospital list.

Joe Rinnert, has been named to start at right tackle. But in his crippled condition it is not likely that he will start any where unless it's for home. In case he should start the chances are that he can't last very long.

Houghton is out of the backfield for the remainder of the season and Lewis won't be able to start Saturday. Injuries to other members of the local team are minor and according to reports the locals should be tough enough to carry away the visiting paperweights.

Nothing would delight the cripples and the many local fans more than to see something like that result because it was the Black and Orange from Ashland that downed Harding in a fast game to decide last year's league championship.

The teams are slated to start as follows:

Harding	Pos.	McDowell
R. Merchant	L E	Vermillion
R. McElroy	L T	(c) Stauffer
Cook	L G	Topper
Kramer	C	LaRue
Malo	R G	Gongwer
Rinnert	R T	Miller
Schultz	R E	Metzgar
Lowe-Merchant	Q	Johnson

Champion Tunney Asks Tex Rickard To Name Opponent

New York, Oct. 15—Gene Tunney stood forth tday as a heavyweight champion who was willing to meet all comers at the earliest available date.

He made himself clear on that point last night when he promised local boxing writers, in a formal address, that he would meet the best man Tex Rickard could get "in America or in the world."

The occasion was a get-together dinner which Tunney tendered local sports writers.

"I told Rickard the day after the fight in Philadelphia that I would defend the championship against the man he selected and on any date named by him," Tunney declared. "I meant that. Rickard informed me that he planned a heavyweight tournament with the understanding that I was to meet the winner. That's all right with me."

WESLEYAN MAY COME BACK IN WOOSTER TILT

Practice Against Wooster Formations Used by Freshman Team

Delaware, Oct. 15—Determined to stage a comeback after their defeat at the hands of Ohio State last week, thirty members of the Ohio Wesleyan grid squad will leave early Saturday for Wooster, where the Bishops will face Wooster college on the gridiron Saturday afternoon.

A revamped lineup likely will start the Wooster clash. Coach Gauthier this week has made several shifts destined to bolster the team's defense Glancy and Phillips, who are by no means ordinary on defense, likely will start as halves and Welty, another first-string man who has seen little service so far, probably will get the call at fullback.

Wesleyan ended its week of preparation for the game with a long workout against the freshmen Thursday. The yearlings used Wooster plays.

Dopesters Name Mansfield Indoor Baseball Gymnasium for Industrials Promoters and Sportsmen College Boxing

BY CHUCK HARRISON

DOPESTERS claiming Mansfield a North Central Ohio Scholastic League championship contender seem to be overlooking the fact that Shelby, another Richland County camp, has not played a league game todate. Coach Paul C. Curry's Shelby squad entertains Delaware Saturday in its initial appearance this season in the N. C. O. League. Shelby's eleven will close its league schedule here Nov. 20, when Harding will also be playing its last league game. We would like to see that game be one of the championship deciders.

• • •

MANSFIELD has two wins, 22 to 0, over Galion and, 7 to 0, over Bucyrus, in addition to its two non-league wins from Danville, Richland County, and Columbus North defeat, 7 to 6, in a big dedication game. That is a fairly good start for Coach J. Russell Murphy and his Red and White representatives.

• • •

HARDING'S game here Saturday with Ashland McDowell High will be watched with league interest, Harding is also making a big bid for the championship flag this season.

• • •

GALION, another championship contender, has two league wins and is not wasting much time with non-league games. Galion downed Harding here, 6 to 0, and then took Ashland across by the same score at Galion Sept. 25. Now just where does this Galion team get off with only one defeat, 22 to 0, at Mansfield last Saturday. Three games played and two victories is not such a bad start either.

• • •

RECREATION ball, although not generally favored by young players, has gained prominence in Marion as a result of some 500 players on 50 teams finishing the season here last September. Kittenball players as a rule make very poor baseball players. In the hope of continuing baseball as America's leading outdoor sport athletic directors many places discourage soft ball.

• • •

POPULARITY of soft ball is leading to the organization of indoor ball. This will give local players a good chance to keep in condition for next year's activities. The Y. M. C. A., of course, is in favor of indoor baseball because it will help fill out their big volleyball program.

• • •

MARION'S basketball players old and young, both men and women are organizing many teams for the season. It is early to date and a majority of the teams do not plan to open their schedules until Thanksgiving.

• • •

WITH the opening of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.'s new $30,000 gymnasium Oct. 30 for their employes and the other industrial workers, inter-factory athletic activities should continue strong here this winter.

• • •

PERSONNEL Director Francis W. Bacon at the Shovel Co., is greatly interested in industrial athletic and recreation activities. He is being given credit for helping place Marion's teams on the map the last season or two and in addition to this he is said to be the instigator of the Shovel's new recreation hall which is to be used for groom meetings. Bacon is an organizer and his past records with the General Motors Corporation at Dayton is evidence of his ability and success. Marion is fortunate indeed in having a few such men claiming their residence here.

• • •

LOYD Bones Matthews, formerly of Ashland, now sales manager of the Oak Knolls allotment which is being developed by the E. H. His hobby in winter months is to promote home talent shows and entertainment. Last year he had considerable experience while spending six months in Florida and the east.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

A FIRST novel is always hailed with interest and a skeptic eye for criticism but in the case of the first novel of Jeanette Phillip Gibbs, wife of the famous author of "Soundings," A. H. Gibbs; and mother of the equally popular author of "Peter Vacuum," Anthony Gibbs; fame was already hers and only doubly increased with the appearance of her own delightful novel "Portia Marries."

The story deals with a very modern young woman, beginning in her childhood, or at the beginning, as all good stories do; and acquainting the readers with her inborn tendencies toward independence. From a "naughty child," Jane Thorndike grows into a hardened woman of the business world, her conservative family completely despairing when she becomes a partner in an enterprising law firm.

The most consequential idea of the book is Janes overwhelming desire to have a really individual personality. She allows her family to have no influence on her life and character and when love enters her life she absorbs it into her personality rather than permitting it to absorb her. Even the birth of a son leaves her quite as much a woman of business and the ruler of her own life as before. Although her independence is not always agreeable to her husband she perseveres, wins and holds her title to a "truly modern specimen of womanhood" and the book ends with her son growing to manhood and, with his father, justly proud of the universal woman his mother, who apart from her husband, has achieved fame and a name of her own.

Not an altogether original plot but one that is always popular . . . always. Sue is until the real modern girl has gained her own rightful, unexaggerated, and ordinary place, in a world of ordinary human beings.

First novels seldom rank as masterpieces but Mrs. Gibbs has achieved one that is not only successful in itself but a promise of still greater achievements in the literary world.

* * *

A group of short stories, all of which recently appeared in popular magazines, have been compiled into a book known as "The Love Nest," and written by Ring Lardner.

Plentifully sprinkled with that American's unexcelled humor they offer a delightful hour or so. One of the most interesting and entertaining stories of the group is the one with which the book concludes "Who Dealt." It is a story of a typical young woman, the likeness of whom one sees and hears every day in every American town. The story first gained popularity when it appeared in the Cosmopolitan and Hearts International.

A prelude, or introduction to the book gives a brief sketch of Ring Lardner and a number of interesting anecdotes concerned with the writing of the stories themselves.

That the book is worth reading is proved by the fact that the stories are a selected group of the best of a well-known popular writer.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made today of the publication of a verse by a young Marion author. The book is entitled "Philosophy for Fools" and was written by Robert Gunder, 564 E. Mr. Gunder is a graduate of Harding High School, class of '23. During that term he was editor of the Quiver, the Harding High School weekly paper.

POACHED EGGS

Cook three tablespoons flour in three tablespoons butter, add slowly 1 1-2 cups milk, season with 1-2 teaspoon paprika and 1-2 teaspoon salt; cook and stir until smooth, then add 1 cup finely cut soft American cheese and stir until melted. Moisten toasted bread with hot milk or water, place poached egg on each piece, cover with sauce and serve at once.

MAKES PIES DELICIOUS

The next time you make an ordinary apple pie, after you have filled up your doughlined pan heaping with your sliced apples (juicy, tart ones are best) and after you have added your sugar, a little flour and cinnamon, fill up the pan with rich cream instead of putting on the criss-cross strips of dough to top it off. You will find the pie rich and delicious.

TAKE 5 CHINESE SMUGGLED INTO U. S. FROM CUBA

Boston Taxicab Bringing Stowaways to Newark Is Stopped by Jersey Police

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 13 — Five Chinamen, who were smuggled into this country by way of Boston, Mass., several days ago, and who were apprehended by the Jersey City police were arraigned at Jersey City Police headquarters by immigration officials. They gave information to the government which indicates that a plot for the wholesale smuggling of Orientals into this country is under way. The base of operations is supposed to be in Cuba.

They also gave information of the whereabouts, in even remote parts of the country, of friends and relatives who have gotten by the immigration bars. This latter information will probably lead to the deportation of hundreds of Chinamen. It has been announced by the Jersey City police that four Chinamen recently smuggled into the country were arrested in Brooklyn as a result of the information secured by the government men in Jersey City.

Discovered in Taxi

The five Chinamen were discovered in a taxicab, speeding through Jersey City towards Newark. The fact that the cab bore Massachusetts license plates and the name, "South Boston Cab Company" aroused the suspicions of two police officers and after chasing the machine several blocks caused it to stop. The five Chinamen inside were unable to talk English. They were brought to Headquarters and the Immigration men and an interpreter sent for.

It was learned that they came to Boston as stowaways from Havana, Cuba, arriving in Boston a few days ago. They were fed and cared for during the voyage by one of the ship's crew and were assisted in their escape upon arrival in Boston by another of the ship's crew. They were housed a day or so in Boston, they didn't know where, and then started on the taxi trip to New York. They took the cab at the company's stand at Broadway and Dorchester avenue, South Boston. William Foley of 294 D street, South Boston, was the driver, who accepted the fare. He said that he was offered $50 to make the trip. Half of that amount was given him in Boston and the balance was to be given him when the party reached New York. Upon arrival in New York the Chinamen succeeded in making the driver understand that they wanted to go on to Newark. Going through Jersey City they were stopped.

Learn Destination

The police learned from Foley that the Newark destination was a restaurant on Market-st. Several officers were sent out there and visited the place with Newark police. They found two men waiting for the arrival of the orientals and arrested them. These men are believed to be the two who assisted in the smuggling. They preceded the Chinamen to Newark by train. The white men will be questioned in an endeavor to find out from them the persons back of the smuggling ring.

The Chinamen are of the coolie type who have been imported into Cuba to work in the sugar industry.

Ballasting of Big Four Tracks is Expected to be Completed Before Winter

Railroad Bed Between Marion and Bellefontaine Being Banked with Stone; Extra Gangs Along Route Making Rapid Progress

When the winter months arrive, the Big Four tracks between Marion and Bellefontaine will be lined with stone ballast, it was learned today.

Extra gangs along the route are making rapid progress in "stripping" the tracks of their present gravel beds and banking them with stone.

The object of the new ballast is to eliminate the clouds of dust arising from the tracks as the high class Cleveland, Indianapolis and St. Louis passenger trains speed along the route.

All sections of the Big Four route between Marion and Cleveland now contain stone ballast and within a few years the entire division will boast of this feature.

When the ballasting between Marion and Bellefontaine is completed, plans for the stone ballasting of the tracks west of Bellefontaine will be made. Work on the western section is expected to begin next spring.

Expect New Schedule

It is rumored in the vicinity of the Union Station and local railroad yards that a new schedule of the Hocking Valley, to take effect in the near future, is soon to be announced.

Under the new schedule, it is said, the Hocking Valley will operate five passenger trains north and five trains south each day. At present the Hocking Valley is running only three trains each way daily.

Two of the north and south bound trains will be through Detroit, Toledo and Columbus outfits, according to the rumor. The through trains will make no stops between Columbus and Toledo, speeding through Marion with all Pullman cars, it is said. The trip is scheduled to be made in three hours, it is claimed.

Division Inspection

The annual inspection of the Toledo division of the Pennsylvania Railroad of which Marion is a part, took place Wednesday and Thursday, when a special train occupied by supervisors, trainmasters, and other officials of the company made the trip through Marion.

The trip north over the branch operating through Marion was made Wednesday with the return journey being held through the city yesterday.

The inspection is held at this time every year, a check-up of the work completed being recorded and plans for future improvements being arranged.

Big Four Meeting

The monthly claim prevention meeting of the local Big Four freight employes was held Tuesday in the local offices, Mill-st. The entire local freight handling force was in attendance at the meeting.

The meetings are held every month and have proved very profitable during the last four years, Agent Frank Mayer said today.

Results of the monthly meetings are presented to the office of Supt. T. J. Hayes of the Cleveland and Indianapolis Division, located at Bellefontaine.

District claim prevention meetings are held the third Monday of each month in Supt. Hayes' offices, a committee from each department along the route attending the gathering.

Coal Shipments

Eleven coal "hoppers", westward bound, passed through Marion today over the Big Four lines.

Erie Men Paid

Local employes of the Erie Railroad received their pay today, Agent G. R. Henney acting as paymaster for engineers, firemen, trainmen and section men.

Rail Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Graebling of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ross of Cleveland, were visitors at the local offices of the American Railway Express Co. yesterday.

Mr. Graebling is supervisor of the Columbus district of the company and Mr. Ross is route agent out of Cleveland.

Fred Stevens, of Columbus, personal injury claim agent, of the Big Four, was in Marion yesterday.

LEAVES WITH CHANGE

Brooklyn, Oct. 15—"Deliver them to 221 Ocean avenue—and you might send change for a $20 bill," Harry Bassine is said to have told the grocer. The police say Bassine's next move was to beat the delivery boy to the apartment house address and get the janitor's permission to inspect an unoccupied apartment. And that his next was to extract $17.08 from the grocery basket that ascended upon the dumb waiter and leave hurriedly.

CITIZENS ACCUSE GOVERNOR

Seattle, Oct. 15—Accusing Gov. Roland Hartley of violating the oath of office, 4,000 citizens here have demanded there call of the governor. Hartley is accused of using his office to further his own ends.

CAREFUL ROBBERS REWARDED

New York, Oct. 15—Carefully, two men lifted a large milk can from a touring car that pulled up alongside Mme. Henrietta Stein's fur shop. Carefully, they lugged the can across the sidewalk. A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

...ke up and looked at Jubi... looked at me, I had to stuff ... my mouth to keep from ... It is not going to be safe to ... same house with my father ... a while yet. Then I let ... by the rope in his teeth. ... on my short britches and ... stockings and went down and ... fires and milked the dummed ... when I came in to break... were all setting down.

...father asted my father how ... he said he felt pretty good. ... grandather asted him if he ... was water in that cellar ... and he said of course it was. ... my grandfather said water ... most thing he ever heard of to ... a cellar.

... I had milked the cows at night ... were eating supper Youniss and ... and father came over, and ... them if they'd as soon ... a couple of blocks with ... a key, and they said they ... then they got talking, and ... they would go and look at the ... My mother and aunt start... something about the cellar ... grandfather scowled and shook ... So we all hurried over to get ... dark, and we went in, and ... scattered all over the house and we were in the room with the cellar door, me and Youniss and Youniss father, and my grandfather and he poked Youniss father and I heard him whisper, "That's the cellar door there. There's something wet in the cellar. I'll keep the crowd busy."

Youniss fathers' face looked like someone had lit a lantern inside of it and he told Youniss to go and tell her mother they must be going, and when Youniss went out he opened the cellar door and went down three steps and went in over his head, and he yelled and I yelled and everyone came running, and my unkle helped him out like he had helped my father, and everyone was laughing but Younisses father, and he looked around for my grandfather, and we looked out of the window and my grandfather was going toardis home as fast as he could for his cane and flat wheel.

Youniss and her mother and father went home, and her father was saying something about gray hairs being a protection and people not getting any sense as they got older. Everyone laughed when we got home, except my ant and my mother, and my grandfather said we would work it on Bunty Moore's father next. They were so busy talking about how smart my grandfather is they let me set up quite a while.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

...le Wiggily and Baby Bunty were ...ing through the woods. It was the ... day they had picked up the three ... one red, one white and the other ... Baby Bunty had said the stones ... magical, or fairy-like, and had ... Uncle Wiggily to go adventuring ... her to see what would happen.

Well, as I told you in the story last ..., the red stone stopped a baby pig ... crying, and whatever can do that ... be magical, as Baby Bunty said. The blue stone was given to Squeakie Eekie, the poor cousin mouse, for a ..., and it changed her sadness into ...diness. That, too, was magical.

"But it's just like the time we had the three sticks," said Baby Bunty as she hopped along with Uncle Wiggily. "We thought the third stick would do no magic, and now we're afraid the white stone which we have left will not do any tricks."

"I don't see it doing any yet," spoke Uncle Wiggily, taking the third, or white stone out of his pocket and looking at it. I mean he looked at the stone, not his pocket. Goodness! Why would he want to look at his pocket? He could do that any time. Besides, a pocket is very dark. Haven't you often heard it said: "As dark as a pocket?"

Of course you have! Anyhow, Uncle Wiggily looked at the white stone, shaped like an egg, and he wondered what would happen so it might produce a little magic, or give him and Baby Bunty a chance to have an adventure.

"Maybe you ought to roll the white stone along the ground, said Bunty. "Then it might do some magic."

"All right," agreed the bunny gentleman. He rolled the white stone on the ground, but all that happened was the stone nearly hit the leg of an ant lady crawling along the path.

"Here!" she cried. "Don't be rolling stones on me!"

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "You see there was no magic in that," he told Baby Bunty when the ant lady had crawled away.

"No," agreed Bunty. "But maybe if you roll the stone the other way something will happen." So Uncle Wiggily did, but this time the stone bumped an old frog lady who was hopping to the one and two-cent store to get some watercress lollypops for her little girl.

"Please don't stone me!" croaked the frog lady.

"I'm sorry!" said Uncle Wiggily, and to Bunty he added: "You see there was no magic that time, either."

"Oh!" exclaimed the little rabbit girl, clapping her paws, "maybe if you rub the white stone on your pink nose something will happen."

"Always willing to please!" laughed Mr. Longears. So he rubbed the white stone on his pink, twinkling nose, but all that happened was a sneeze. "Ah-ker-choo!" sneezed the rabbit, and Bunty laughed. Then she exclaimed.

"Oh, toss the white stone up in the air and see what happens!" Up went the white stone, and when it came down on the ground with a thump, out of the bushes sprong the Fuzzy Fox.

"Oh, my dear!" gasped Bunty.

"Keep cool!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"What are you doing with my egg?" snarled the Fox.

"Your egg?" questioned Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, my egg!" said the Fox, sneering like and impolite. "That's my egg and I'm going to have it! After that I'm going to nibble your ears!" and he made a jump for the round, white stone.

"Be careful! That isn't an egg!" warned Uncle Wiggily.

"You can't fool me!" sneered the

Up went the white stone.

Fox. And with the he bit hard on the round thing he thought was an egg, and he fooled himself. For it was the hard, white stone, and the bad chap broke off five of his teeth and part of another one. "Oh, wowzie!" he howled as, dropping the egg-shaped stone, he ran away. So he didn't get Uncle Wiggily's ears after all.

"I though that third stone would be magical!" laughed Baby Bunty. "I'm going to keep it to scare foxes with," and she put it in her pocket. So now we have reached the end of the story of the third stone. But if the back steps don't run around front to hear the hand organ man's monkey sing the cat's cradle to sleep, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggilys lemonade stand.

STOCK PRICES TAKE SHARP DOWNWARD PATH

Leaders Break from Three to 13 Points in Mad Selling Session

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks reactionary; industrial stocks reactionary; domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds steady; call money 5 per cent; grain irregular; copper steady; oil irregular; cotton steady; rubber irregular; sugar irregular; pig iron irregular; foreign exchange steady.

New York, Oct. 15—Rallying points in the stock market were conspicuously absent today, and stock prices turned sharply downward in the most pronounced reaction of the month.

The range of prices today for many of the most prominent stocks on the big board was the lowest since the May and June rally and in numerous cases represented a decline to the lowest price levels of the year. The inability of the market to stage any kind of a rally from the depression of the first hour encouraged the bears to pile their selling orders on a demolized market. Prices broke badly shortly after the noon period, with losses of 3 to 13 points in such well known stocks as United States Steel, General Motors, Woolworth and Cast Iron Pipe.

There was very little effort in Wall st to connect the current movement in stock prices with present or prospective developments in American business. Some dissatisfaction was expressed that the liquidation of the last few weeks had not wrought a better improvement in the Federal Reserve Bank condition, but money market condition could hardly have been cited as a reason for further demoralization in the stock market. As in the February and March break in prices, the market had reached a stage where short selling became profitable and the elimination of weak accounts a comparatively easy task.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Tokay grapes today were selling at 15 cents a pound, an increase of five cents over the former price.

Increase in the price of the fruit followed a new shipment yesterday. Home-grown grapes still retain a general price of about three cents a pound.

Again the prediction that peaches in large quantities will not be seen in Marion markets after this week, has been made by local dealers. Several local stores have already ceased handling the fruit while others are well supplied for a Saturday rush.

All vegetables, with the exception of tomatoes, were plentiful in Marion markets today, with no change in the prices. Homegrown tomatoes have almost entirely disappeared from the market and prediction of the importing of hot-house varieties has already been made.

Farmers today were receiving 40 cents a dozen for eggs while the retail price ranged around the 45-cent mark. Several local dealers were paying 41 and 42 cents for eggs.

FIST FIGHT THROWS COURT INTO TOURMOIL

Los Angeles, Oct. 15—The air of Judge Blake's court was still charged with excitement today as the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff all charged with conspiracy got under way today.

After a week of bickering, a fist fight between W. J. Gilbert, chief counsel for Mrs. McPherson, and S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Sielaff, threw the court into a turmoil yesterday. Gilbert and Hahn exchanged blows when the latter accused Gilbert of telling the press that his client, Mrs. Sielaff, was a liar.

Gilbert then slapped Hahn across the face with his open hand and Hahn retaliated with a similar blow.

Court attaches separated the two men after which Judge Blake admonished both of them for their actions.

Attorneys for the defense again last a move to have Mrs. Sielaff declared incompetent upon the grounds that she was once an inmate of an insane asylum. Her sister has stated that Mrs. Sielaff was placed in a Utah institution a number of years ago, not because she was mentally deranged but because she was incorrigible.

Mrs. Sielaff reiterated yesterday that Mrs. McPherson offered her a sum of money to produce a "Miss X" to assume the role of companion to Kenneth G. Ormiston at a cottage at Carmel, and she said the woman she picked to play the role was Miss Rachel Wells, of Philadelphia. She declared she did not know the whereabouts of Miss Wells at present but thought she was in New Orleans.

Only Ninety Seconds

It requires only ninety seconds for a freight train of fifty cars to pass a crossing, and seven seconds for a fast passenger train to pass the same point.

Yet, according to statistics from the Interstate Commerce Commission, 8,761 persons were killed or injured at highway crossings last year.

This in spite of the fact that during the past ten years railway accidents constantly have been decreasing. The number of passengers killed has declined. The number of deaths among railway employes has declined. But accidents at highways, eighty-four percent of which involve automobiles, steadily are increasing.

The danger of accidents at all points where the public highway crosses the railroad at grade will remain in spite of every precaution that the railroads can take. The sense of responsibility in highway crossing accidents must be shared by the motorist, if such accidents are to decline.

There are over 20,000,000 automobiles registered in the United States. This means at least 20,000,000 drivers of automobiles. With the help of these drivers, the railroads could eliminate railway crossing accidents.

The 8,761 deaths and injuries which occurred at crossings last year could have been avoided if the drivers could have spared ninety seconds.

A lifetime against ninety seconds is too big a risk.

NORRIS THROWS HIS SUPPORT TO DEMOCRAT

Nebraska's Insurgent G. O. P. Senator Taking Stump To Defeat Vare

Washington, Oct. 15 The eyes of both major political parties were centered today on Senator George W. Norris, insurgent Republican leader of the senate, who will launch a one man crusade tomorrow to overthrow the traditional land-lide Republican majority in Pennsylvania's pending senatorial election.

Throwing his support to William B Wilson, Democratic nominee, Norris will take the stump with the hope of defeating Representative William S. Vare, Republican "boss" of Philadelphia, on the record revealed by the recent "senate slush fund" investigation of the Keystone State's primary.

Norris will speak first in Altoona tomorrow night and thereafter devote the remainder of the campaign to "addressing as many voters as can be reached."

Insurgents To Fight

The action of the Nebraskan, who is a nominal Republican, may be fraught with significance to a good many political fortunes outside of Pennsylvania. For one thing, political leaders here look upon the move as serving notice the insurgents will fight to the bitter end every effort to seat Vare, should he be elected and also as forecasting another contest to unseat Frank L. Smith, Republican nominee in Illinois, if the latter should be victorious in November.

Aside from these two contests, the Norris crusade also caused Republican leaders some alarm because it widens the breach between the so-called Republican insurgent group and the administration ranks. Thus far in the present senatorial campaign, the regular republican organization has constantly held out the "olive branch" to the insurgents, extending aid to the candidacies of former Senator Smith W. Brookhart in Iowa and Senator Gerald P. Nye in North Dakota, both insurgents.

In leaping across party fences, Norris announced he was following the precedent of Theodore Roosevelt, "who set a good example for Republicans to follow when he repudiated Lorrimerism in Illinois after the attempt to debauch the legislature and the public offices of that state."

His friends further cited the action this year of a number of republicans in giving aid to Senator Robert N. Stanfield, now running as an independent against Frederick Steiwer, the regular Republican nominee in Oregon. "As I see it," Norris explained, "the senatorial campaign now under way in Pennsylvania is of vastly more importance to the American people than any other election in any other state. The issue in Pennsylvania is a simple but fundamental issue with the mass of good citizens of all parties or no party alignment on one side and on the other, a corrupt political machine seeking to nullify the franchise by a lavish use of money and by the theft of ballots legally cast at the polls."

He predicted the senate would not seat Vare even if the latter were elected.

To be a good listener is to be popular, but to have an errand somewhere else instead of listening is sometimes to be more popular with yourself.

Simple Remedy For Bad Stomach Gives Quick Relief

No Need of Strong Medicines or Diet—Famous but Simple Old English Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition, Banishes After-Eating Distress

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unnecessary starvation diets.

Never hurry your meal or overeat of anything, but within reason most folks may eat what they like—if they will keep their stomach sweet, clean and active and free from the souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a small amount of pure Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless and inexpensive form of Magnesia that promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A week's trial of Bisurated Magnesia, which may be obtained from any druggist for only a few cents, will easily convince you of the great value of this old English recipe.

Be sure and get BISURATED Magnesia—not a laxative.—Adv.
